Opposition Jubilant

Bennett, BCE Silent On Briggs' New Job

The man who was fired as general manager of the B.C. Power Commission last November because he publicly denounced Premier Bennett's financial policies for the commission was yesterday appointed to the new National Energy Board in Ottawa.

Outspoken H. Lee Briggs was one of five men named to the board by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The two biggest targets of

Mr. Briggs' outspoken attack on government power policy—Premier Bennett and B.C. Electric president Dal Grauer—had no comment yesterday on the appointment.

"On federal appointments, I never have any comment," Premier Bennett said quietly. A spokesman for the BCE said there would be no comment from Mr. Grauer "because we never comment on the appointment of public boards or officials."

(See story on Page 6.) But the appointment was greeted with jubilation in other circles.

Happiest place in Victoria was the offices of the B.C. Power Commission when the employees heard about the appointment. Mr. Briggs was admired by his former employees who contrary to advice of high BCPC officials continued to support Mr. Briggs even after he was fired.

"I am very happy that Mr. Briggs has received this appointment," Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said. "This vindicates Mr. Briggs."

"The appointment completely vindicates Mr. Briggs," echoed Liberal Leader Ray Perrault.

Deane Finlayson, Progressive Conservative leader, said the appointment will mean careful scrutiny of any plans to export power generated on the Peace River.

In his new appointment Mr. Briggs will undoubtedly deal with Lands and Forests Minister Williston, Premier Bennett and Mr. Grauer in matters concerning export of power, development of the Columbia and Peace River Wenner-Gren development if, as indicated, it is planned to export some of the power developed in the north.

When Mr. Briggs made his sensational charges that the Bennett government was "prostituting BCPC customers for political purposes" he was hailed by many as a one-man crusader and a hero and by others his mental condition was questioned.

His charges led to the Shrum royal commission into B.C. Power Commission financing which held lengthy hearings throughout British Columbia. Premier Bennett said yesterday he is still waiting for the final report of the Shrum Royal Commission.

Weak Radar Link

Prairie Gap Worries U.S.

OTTAWA (CP) — Genial Neil McElroy, United States defence secretary, sought Canadian co-operation Tuesday in construction of more heavy radars in Canada to fill the prairie gap.

The Pinetree radar network, which controls the operations of jet interceptors and anti-aircraft missiles, extends from the East Coast to the region of Winnipeg and from the West Coast to Dawson Creek, B.C.

It is this radarless prairie gap which defence planners want to plug. Plans already exist for seven new heavy radars—two in Central Canada and five on the Prairies—but Mr. McElroy said at a press conference soon after his arrival here for a one-day visit that still more radars are needed.

PEARKE AGREES

Reaction of Defence Minister Pearkes was favorable. He told reporters after his meeting with Mr. McElroy: "We decided it would be desirable to increase the facilities of the warning system by introduction of new and more powerful radars and the addition of more gap-filler radars than originally contemplated."

This was subject, however, to cabinet approval. No estimate of costs or construction dates were given.

JOINT FINANCING

The Pinetree chain and the new radars are financed jointly by Canada and the U.S., with this country paying one-third of the cost.

Mr. McElroy made it clear that the U.S. is not urging Canada to accept more Bomarc anti-aircraft missile bases in Canada beyond the two already planned for North Bay, Ont., and Mont Laurier, Que.

Nkrumah at Castle

Ex-Outcast Now Guest Of the Queen

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP) — Premier Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana called on the Queen Tuesday night to offer congratulations on the expected royal baby and to talk about turning his African state into a republic. (See page 10.)

The Queen invited him to Balmoral Castle to express her personal regrets that, with her third child on the way, she was forced to cancel a visit to Ghana.

The 49-year-old African statesman flew in beaming with delight.

When he came to Britain as a student 14 years ago he had trouble finding lodgings. A few years later British authorities in Africa jailed him as an agitator.

Tuesday night Nkrumah was an honored guest at the royal castle.

He admitted that he will be discussing with the Queen the possibility of making Ghana a republic. This would mean not recognizing the Queen as head of state, but would leave Ghana a member of the Commonwealth.

Man, 50, Charged In Police Shooting

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Eino Pajuluoma, 50, was charged with attempted murder Tuesday following the wounding of provincial police Const. Marcel Gascon, 30.

Const. Gascon, formerly of Edmonton, was in serious condition in hospital with neck wounds from 410 shotgun pellets suffered when he was shot in a rooming house where he went to interview a man about an Aug. 6 traffic accident.

City police said Const. Gascon was shot on the stairway of the house at which Pajuluoma roomed.

The constable staggered downstairs and pounded on the door of another room. When he received no answer he went out to the street where witnesses said he collapsed in a pool of blood.

John Strachuk, a neighbor, called police and three officers entered the house and recovered the gun. They said Pajuluoma offered no resistance.

Red Bike Battalions Supply Laos Battle

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Communist battalions are using bicycles to move arms and supplies into Sam Neua province from the direction of North Viet Nam, a Laotian official said Tuesday.

Sisouk Na Champassak, secretary of state for information, said the bike battalions are using jungle paths and generally imitating tactics used by the Communist Vietnamese during the Indochina war against the French.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. state department yesterday accused the Communists of deliberately starting the fighting in Laos "to keep tensions alive in Southeast Asia."

Automatic Tooth Brush Ready for Weary World

TRIESTE, Italy (UPI) — Businessman Angelo Riossa claims to have solved the problems of those who each morning feel it a tiring effort to wash their teeth.

Riossa said he had invented the automatic tooth brush. The instrument is operated by a small turbine activated by water pressure. The bristles rotate and all the user has to do is hold the brush—it does the rest.

"You don't even have to squeeze paste on to the brush. It is equipped with a container that rations it out automatically."

Ratification Needed

Iron Union, Companies Solve Strike

Labor Picture Brightens But More Trouble Ahead

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's critical labor situation eased further late last night with the announcement that negotiations in the six-week strike of ironworkers, which has been tying up $90,000,000 in construction, have reached a proposal satisfactory to both sides.

Ratification still will be required by the 500 members of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers union, and the 15 companies involved.

GOOD NEWS

Following as it did on the settlement of the fishing strike, which had tied up British Columbia's No. 2 industry, the agreement between union negotiators and the 15 companies involved was good news.

But the continued lack of negotiation between the IWA and the coast forest industries took the edge off the announcement.

ELECTRICIAN STRIKE?

And a strike of electrical workers was feared as 1,200 members of the inside wiremen's section of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers began voting today to decide whether they will go on strike to support demands of a shorter working week.

The electricians want a 35-hour week with no reduction in take-home pay. They have rejected a conciliation board award of 10-cents-an-hour over two years. Present pay is $3.10 an hour.

REFERRED FOR VOTE

The statement on the ironworkers' agreement was issued by Norman Eddison, business agent of the local, and T. H. Shields, president of the company association. The proposal will be referred to the companies this morning and the men will vote tonight.

UNDERWAY IN WEEK

Confidence that the proposal would become final was indicated by the announcement from Mr. Shields that the biggest project, the $56,000,000 B.C. Electric hydro-electric plant at Bridge River, would be underway this week.

William Fraser, chief conciliation officer of the provincial labor department, brought the two sides together.

CONTEMPT FINES

Union acts brought Supreme Court action when three union officials and the union were fined a total of $19,000 for contempt of court.

Terms of the settlement were not announced.

However, earlier in the day, union members voted to refuse an offer totalling 57 cents an hour in a 27-month contract.

RETROACTIVE

These included 32 cents an hour retroactive to the first of the year; an additional six cents when work resumed; an additional seven cents in welfare benefits starting Jan. 1, 1960; and an additional 12 cents April 1, 1960, with the contract to run until March 31, 1961.

Taxes Down Pensions Up In Australia

CANBERRA (Reuters) — The Australian government cut income taxes by 5 per cent and increased old age and all other social security pensions Tuesday.

Industry will be able to keep a larger share of profits after dividends.

Polio Hits 27 More In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Twenty-seven more polio victims were registered at Montreal hospitals Tuesday, raising this year's total to 184. Twelve have died.

At this time last year only five cases were reported.

Of the 184 polio victims, officials said, only seven had been vaccinated—and they are suffering only mild attacks.

Acid Spray Fells 60, Scores Flee

NEW YORK (UPI) — Deadly nitric acid spurted from a hose leak at a Brooklyn plant engaged in secret air force production yesterday, injuring more than 60 persons and forcing hundreds to flee their homes. Some were burned, others were overcome by fumes.

Bear Loose Near Homes

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (UPI) — Ontario provincial police Tuesday advised parents in two large housing subdivisions to keep their children at home because they feared a wounded bear might be loose in the area.

The bear had been annoying people in the area for three days and was shot by a resident Tuesday.

Teenager Took Drugs at Home Mother, Brothers Tell Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—An 18-year-old girl wept in Vancouver police court Tuesday as her mother and two younger brothers testified against her on a drug possession charge.

The girl, Margaret Gropp, was remanded to Thursday along with Jerry Kleyns, 22, who is charged jointly with her.

The girl's brothers, aged 12 and 15, told the court they peeked through the keyhole of the bathroom door in their home and saw the two "taking dope."

Mrs. Gropp said she went to the bathroom door and told the two to come out. When they refused, she said, she called police.

Police Det. Gordon Cox testified the girl showed "all the symptoms of being under the influence of drugs." He said he also found an eye dropper, a needle and some white powder in the bathroom.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

COVE, Hants.—London airport looks like a city on Mars, designed by a science fiction artist. Fantastic galleries and roof gardens, with restaurants, playgrounds and stores at many levels, command a view of aircraft coming and going from all over the globe.

British Comets and Viscounts, among the fastest and most successful airliners in the world, come whistling down the gigantic runways and along the taxi-paths, their arrivals and departures proclaimed by a satin-smooth-voiced woman announcer on a public address system.

We learned that 43 separate airlines, including Trans-Canada, operate from this great sky city. The airport cost more than $80,000,000 to build and employs 26,000 people, including 210 special airport police. Its amenities range from a miniature golf course to 24-hour-a-day banking service, a public house which used to be the "Bricklayers Arms" but is now "The Air Hostess," and a hotel for animals.

Controllers in glass-panelled criers watched and ordered the movements of distant aircraft, planes landing and taxiing, and kept an eye on every ground vehicle. The airport is a model of efficiency. But here was one of the British foibles that enrage foreigners: In the midst of all these 20th Century miracles, the most luxurious of the airport's rooftop restaurants had run out of practically every kind of food except cheese sandwiches.

They were going to be open for several more hours. Why hadn't they re-ordered when the supplies began running low? The men and women working in there did not seem even mildly concerned about having to turn customers away.

I'm told that it is difficult to get restaurant help in Britain nowadays.

We went to the airport on a coach tour from Cove, near Farnborough, where we were staying. It was a six-hour trip. Fare for each of us: six shillings return, or about 90 cents. But passengers all tipped the driver and also the sightseeing guide who gave us a running commentary.

On the way back the coach called at the air forces memorial on Cooper's Hill, Runnymede. Its quiet, white cloisters overlooking the Thames are inscribed with the names of 20,000 British and Commonwealth airmen, killed over Britain or Western Europe, who have no known graves.

(Those killed in the East are commemorated in Singapore.)

On some of the shelves inside the monument were small vases of flowers, bearing such messages as these:

"In memory of our beloved only son, Flight-Sergeant J. S. McKay. Mum and Dad. Aberdeen."

"My darling Stan. Mum."

"P. O. Angus McKenzie. Our dearly loved and only son."

A spiral staircase led to a cool, windowed chamber at the top of the building. Far below, the old Thames meandered toward the sea, between banks of foliage. I saw a small boat come in sight and vanish behind the trees. Away to the left was Windsor Castle. The fields were a checkerboard of green and dry gold. Somewhere down on those fields, King John signed Magna Carta.

Many people had been laughing and chattering when they approached the shrine. All of them looked serious when they came out. They had that half-embarrassed look that people show when they come out of church, or a sad movie.

Wet Beat

Britain's heat wave was broken by violent thunderstorms with torrential rain. Trains were stopped, roads blocked and many houses struck by lightning and floods. A policeman wades through the flood waters to carry old people from their flooded homes to ambulances.

Army 'Stress' Research

Scientists Score 'Brutal Training'

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI)—Two psychologists have protested against army experiments in which trainees are told they are threatened with death.

Michael Argyle, visiting Oxford University professor, said the tests were so brutal as to be unethical. The protests were filed with the American Psychological Association by Argyle and Jerome Frank, an associate at the Stanford Institute for Advanced Studies in the Behavioral Sciences.

Dr. Howard H. McFann, research director of the army leadership human research unit here, denied that the experiments were unethical. He said their purpose was to determine how people react under stress.

This knowledge may enable the army to weed out men who would be ineffective in combat situations and to learn how to train its men more efficiently.

He said the experiments involved isolating individuals in remote areas, then telling them they are endangered by a forest fire. The trainees are equipped with radios which receive but do not send, he said. "In another experiment, subjects on an artillery range are led to believe by simulated explosions that fire has been directed upon them."

McFann said the army once told individual trainees here, who had just taken a blood test, that a probably fatal air bubble had been produced accidentally in their blood.

"This experiment was abandoned because it was unconvincing," he said.

McFann said any doubts about lying to trainees in the experiments will be outweighed by the results.

News in Brief

ENID, Okla.—Smoking wreckage rained down over a residential area when a jet trainer crashed and exploded on a test flight. The pilot was killed, but no other persons were injured.

VANCOUVER—Work will resume within a few days on the biggest construction project held up by a six-week strike of British Columbia ironworkers—the B.C. Electric Company's $56,000,000 hydroelectric plant at Bridge River, 100 miles north of here.

SEATTLE—An exhaustive, six-year investigation of the murder of a Seattle grocer has ended with the filing of charges against two men and a young woman. Gruelling police work, in which the murder weapon was traced to Colorado and Alaska, preceded the arrests.

'60-Zones Not to Blame'

Alcohol Is Menace Gagliardi Argues

B.C. highway accident fatalities were up 50 per cent in June and 82 per cent in July over the same months last year, but the new 60-mile-an-hour zones are not the reason, according to Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi and Premier Bennett.

"It does not mean the 60 zones are the reason," Premier Bennett said. "I think most people were driving those speeds anyway."

Highways Minister Gagliardi said "we are constantly in touch with the situation. We are concerned with the increase in accidents, but we are sure it is not the 60 zones that are causing them."

Mr. Gagliardi acknowledged there is a definite increase in accidents, but argued that there is also a definite increase in traffic and credited this to British Columbia's good roads and an increase in tourists this year.

The main reason for accidents "is alcohol... not the vehicle... not the roads... not the speed limit," he claimed.

"It takes 10,000 bolts to hold a car together, but only one nut behind the wheel to smash it," he said.

The premier said he drove to and from Kelowna for the bonfire ceremony and "every time we came to a 60 zone we tried it out... we had no trouble."

He explained that "you don't have to drive at 60... if you don't know the road you shouldn't drive at 60... that is the maximum... When driving on strange roads I think everyone should drive at less than the maximum."

Premier Bennett explained that the 60 zones had been selected by a committee of RCMP and traffic engineers.

Dog, Mistress Reunited In Airport Sewer Pipe

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Hudson, 35, of Anchorage, Alaska, and her 11-year-old cocker spaniel, Wahine, were reunited at the airport here Monday—in a sewer pipe culvert.

The dog disappeared when it escaped from a crate at the airport and Mrs. Hudson spent three days tramping around the airport area searching until it was reported "peeking out of a culvert."

She crawled in after it and the two emerged, muddy, but happy and together.

The boy who spotted the lost dog was given a $50 reward by the owner.

Salesmen 'Conned' Buyers

VANCOUVER (CP)—A used-car company and two of its salesmen pleaded guilty in police court Tuesday to 18 charges of conspiracy and fraud in their dealings with the public.

Magistrate Oscar Orr remanded the salesmen, Joseph Edward Hargitt and Walter George Murwick, one week in custody pending a full report on the operation of their company, Stonehouse Motors Ltd.

The two salesmen told the court they had made restitution of more than $4,100 to a number of customers.

Prosecutor Al Mackoff said one of the customers told Hargitt he had been deceived and said:

"We have got this game sewn up."

He said Hargitt then told the customers how he had been "conned" and ordered him off the lot.

West 'Unfair' to Asian Democrats Indonesian Ambassador Charges

GENEVA PARK, Lake Couchiching, Ont. (CP)—The West is unfair in its attitudes towards Asian countries trying to evolve democratic systems of government, Dr. L. N. Palaz, Indonesian ambassador to Canada, said Tuesday at the conference of the Canadian Institute on Public Affairs.

"We are accused," he added, "of being Communist, half-Communist, or undemocratic. There is no greater insult to a democrat. Why is the West doing that to us?"

"The first question many people ask me is: Is President Sukarno really a Communist? If you asked that in Indonesia, the Indonesian would blow his top.

"It is very dangerous for the West to call fellow democrats in Asia non-democrats. It is pushing them away from you. The West cannot afford to lose these democratic leaders and the people they influence. If you lose them you are lost too."

The term "guided democracy" is misunderstood in the West, Dr. Palaz said, because the West associates it with communism where guidance is dictated from the top.

Cominco Makes New Bid For U.S. Power Deal

TRAIL (CP)—The Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company plans another attempt to get federal government approval for an interchange of power with the Bonneville Power Administration of the U.S. northwest, company sources said yesterday.

A formal application filed by the company five years ago for permission to export power or exchange power with the Bonneville administration was rejected by the Liberal government on grounds that development of hydro power on interior British Columbia's rivers should await settlement of the Columbia River question.

PARIS (UPI)—A foreign ministry spokesman confirmed reports yesterday that France soon will explode its first atomic bomb.

The spokesman said the French armed forces were rushing preparations at the Sahara proving grounds near Reggane in North Africa.

France intends to go ahead with the atomic test despite Russia's declared intentions of refraining from new nuclear tests, the spokesman said. Russia, Britain and the United States so far are the only nations with nuclear bombs.

It Is Time to Return

IF things have reached the pass where foodstuffs have to be begged to help IWA strikers, a resumption of work cannot surely be long delayed. It will seem keen irony to many families in this distress to know that the situation would be remedied tomorrow if only a settlement were made. Where thousands of men are concerned no strike fund can avoid hardship when the dispute lasts over weeks, and the responsibility thus thrust upon union leaders is not a light one.

Irrespective of the causes no one likes to think of women and children suffering, and they are the ones who feel the pinch that follows strike action. The primary role of men is to be the breadwinners, and many there must be among them in this instance who would gladly get the dispute over and return to their daily tasks. This is particularly so since a wage increase is not totally denied but awaits a resumption of work. Mixed feelings must be many in the ranks of the IWA members.

Half a loaf is always better than no bread at all, but here more than the original loaf is offered. The days are long gone, and happily so, when workmen had to fight for a principle—when strikes were fought to the bitter end because submission meant no change in either conditions or wages. In that sense, strikes are now needless. Negotiations provide and conciliation boards recommend settlements that give workers, if not all they ask, an advance over existing rates. It is mostly a case nowadays of reaching a common mean.

That mean is available to the IWA and obviously implies no defeat. Defeat and success are nowadays misnomers for both labor and management in any industrial dispute, for both sides lose heavily when a strike is effected. Wisdom would seem to suggest that the point of acceptance has been reached; when it becomes a matter of finding basic foodstuffs for men on strike surely the imperative thing to do is to end the strike.

Merchants and other business firms who have responded to the appeal for food, or otherwise eased the dilemma for strikers, are to be commended for their humanitarian instincts. It may be anomalous if some donors should themselves suffer from the strike, through loss of regular business, and yet promptly aid those responsible for the setback, but human need has the first call on generosity. That call grows with every extra day passed without work, and it suggests strongly that the strike should be ended.

An Element To Avoid

SINCE its inception, and especially in the past five or ten years, the Victoria Symphony Society has made notable progress in popularizing symphonic music. By dint of some skilful propaganda aided by convincing demonstration it has largely succeeded in disabusing people of the silly notion—not harbored in older countries—that symphony is for high-brows and those with social aspirations.

Mr. Hans Gruber and succeeding boards of directors have striven long and diligently to introduce people in all walks of life to the delights of good music, and in doing so have managed to enhance the stature of the orchestra itself and enlarge its field of influence. Several years ago those who directed the affairs of the orchestra made a special effort to divest symphony in Victoria of what may be best described as "snob appeal," an element which, though discouraged by those who valued music for its own worth, did at that time exist to a limited extent here as in most cities of North America.

The measure of success of that effort was to be observed in the informality of attire and the relaxed atmosphere in which subsequent concerts were presented. Symphonic did indeed become music for everybody—and pleasure over that happy transition in no way implies disrespect or ingratitude towards the many loyal people of social prominence in the community who had supported the orchestra through the lean years and who still continue to help the society liberally and anonymously.

Now the society proposes to make a gala social occasion of the opening night of the coming season, with special invitations to prominent personages and a reception afterwards for guests of distinction. The motive behind this is excellent—as a means of demonstrating the progress and worth of the orchestra. But it is wise to pursue that purpose by means of setting up a large "special list" of notables to be accorded special deference? Some sensitive people might interpret this, mistakenly one feels confident, as an attempt to reintroduce snob appeal; and that would be a reaction which could do more harm than good.

Rejuvenated Cougars

THE sun still shines and summer is still high but plans are afoot for the ice hockey season. Like magazines which appear a month before their publication date and spring fashions on show in midwinter, sports schedules are lined up far in advance. They have to be, and it is the pre-season prospects that titillate the fans and rouse their interest.

Where the Cougars are concerned these are of unusual vintage this year. Optimists are turning back the years to the era of Roger Leger and hopeful of a repeat of those dynamic nights which kept the Cougars at top stretch and on top of the table. That is what is good for the turnstiles, the basic necessity if an ice hockey club is to flourish.

New Westminster's loss is Victoria's gain and the transfer of that club's manager, Mr. Hal Laycoe—altogether with players of goodly calibre—has rejuvenated the local hockey scene. With the Cougars' own better players, plus a more effective working arrangement with the Boston Bruins, the outlook appears sound and indeed attractive.

These circumstances are creating excitement among ice hockey supporters, who are looking forward to having something really to cheer about this season. If realization equals anticipation the Memorial Arena should house capacity groups and financial worries should soon fade away. The special set-up of the 1959-60 Cougars is prospectively of one-year duration, but should the Cougars turn up trumps and the fans flock in enthusiastic numbers, then a fresh impetus will be given to the club management.

I USED TO HAVE THE SAME EXPERIENCE WITH MOVIES. I ALWAYS LOVED IT WHEN MELVYN DOUGLAS AND CONSTANCE BENNETT WOULD MEET AT A PARTY.

AND HE'D SAY TO HIS BUDDY, EDDIE BRACKEN, "SOMEDAY I'M GOING TO MARRY THAT GIRL." AND HE ALWAYS DID.

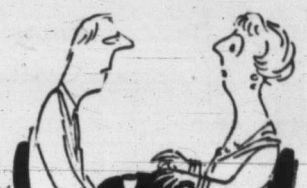

MELVYN DOUGLAS AND CONSTANCE BENNETT?

AND I THOUGHT THAT WHEN I GROW UP THATS THE WAY IT WOULD BE. I'D GO TO A PARTY LIKE THE ONE I MET YOU AT TONIGHT AND I'D SAY, "SOMEDAY I'M GOING TO MARRY THAT GIRL."

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

OUT in these parts we don't sing much about the maple leaf forever, leaving that to the Torontonians who eschew the all-Canadian anthem that wins our preference. Amusedly, I note the revelation in Liberty by Gordon Sinclair that he was barred for life from Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens for asking why "O Canada" was not played there.

But the maple leaf is the national symbol, as well we know and as the funnels of RCN ships proclaim to all and sundry. It is the silent badge of Canada, and since the war our servicemen have been carrying it pretty well all over the globe. If in B.C. we don't sing about it this doesn't mean we don't share in its recognition. After all we have maples in our province too, and perhaps they are destined to be more important than ever we thought. They may constitute the remaining stands of the national symbol.

According to an erudite but disturbing article in Maclean's the leaf Alexander Muir put in song, and thus on army jeeps and naval funnels, is in danger of not waving forever. A blight has come upon the maple, a disease not yet fully diagnosed, and only vaguely understood. What they call the "dieback," the form the disease takes, is wiping out the national emblem as it grows.

The disease was discovered only in recent years, but it is spreading and jumping the miles as well. All over Ontario, seemingly, the maple trees are dying in profusion, and 500 miles and two lakes away in Wisconsin as well. Obviously this means acute loss for those concerned and from the symbolic viewpoint the connotation is Dominion-wide. Across the line it would not matter since there is no sign of a dieback among the eagles, but what if Canada should come to sport an emblem that is no more?

Some years ago I speculated idly on the good fortune of a certain insurance company that the war ended with the "Rock" still towering in symbolic and actual majesty. It might have happened, and perhaps easily enough too, that Gibraltar was taken or at least reduced to impotence, in which case the verity of the company's slogan would have been seriously impaired. Happily for our peace of mind as well as that of worried insurance executives Franco stayed Hitler's hand.

So it would be if the maple vanished forever instead of waving forever. It is true that a symbol is a superficial object and that it is what the symbol stands for that counts. Canada would remain verdant even if it had to change the leaf on its warships' funnels, but the world might not understand. Impinging our national consciousness on the minds of outsiders is a task not yet completed, and if suddenly we had to change the emblem this might seem a kind of national dieback, or at least suggest that we weren't sure of ourselves. Often enough we aren't, as a matter of fact, but this is a family secret not to be noised abroad.

To the outside world it is the symbol that bespeaks a nation—the eagle, the lion, the bear, etc. We chose not an animal but a leaf, by accident or design I don't know which, and it is a leaf that is becoming increasingly recognized as the silent badge of this country. It would be rather disconcerting to find a substitute and begin our external relations all over again.

Fortunately the saving grace, so far anyway, reposes in our own felicitous British Columbia. There is no word in the Maclean's article, at least, about the dieback having affected our maples and presumably our two species are blooming with unabated vigor. It may just be of course that Ontario is going into decline and that B.C. is destined, as Mr. Bennett undoubtedly would agree, to lead the nation in yet another field. No matter where, however, may the maple leaf wave forever.

Letter from London

Aftermath of Printing Strike

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

AFTER seven weeks the printing presses of the United Kingdom have started turning again. The unions which demanded a 10 per cent wage increase for 3½ hours less work a week have settled for a 4½ per cent increase and 1½ hours less work a week.

Mathematicians have worked it out that it will take most of the workers 2½ years to get back from the increase what they have lost in pay during the dispute.

That is only part of the story which has cost the industry in terms of money about $90,000,000. The unions have paid out nearly $9,000,000 in strike pay and impoverished themselves to the point where there may have to be a levy only a little short of the increased pay to allow union treasuries to restore a balance to their bank accounts.

What the industry has lost permanently is another matter.

Some smaller newspapers have decided to close down. It seems likely that some of the smaller printing firms will be going to the wall. A number of big contracts transferred to Europe during the strike may well stay there because production is cheaper. Hundreds of firms have installed office printing machines and duplicators which may in aggregate have a very serious effect on the aggregate amount of business available to printers.

Several municipal government authorities, faced with the inability to print agendas and minutes turned to duplicators and printing machines and have decided to keep them at it on the grounds that it is cheaper and more efficient, and that the possible loss in quality is not important when documents are designed mainly for internal circulation.

Newsagents have suffered severe losses. A seaside newsagent informed me that on the August bank holiday last year his aggregate takings were $100 more than they were on the same day this year. He expected his takings for the week to be down by about $500. The loss was due entirely to the absence of newspapers and periodicals and he pointed out that many people calling in for a newspaper purchased other items—and he had lost the sale of those too.

He had met the situation by dismissing an assistant and saving wages and no doubt thousands of other newsagents up and down the country have done the same thing.

Some firms have had to hold up exports because of the absence of printing for instructions manuals. Some have overcome this problem by having emergency supplies printed in Europe, but it is hardly in the best interests of British products that their associated literature should be printed elsewhere. Indeed it is difficult to find any virtue in a regrettable industrial upheaval. (The stationery office printing presses have been working so the expected absence of income tax forms and demands has not materialized.)

Most of the credit, if not all of it, belongs to Lord Birkett, a former Lord Justice of Appeal, who by diligence and common sense manoeuvred the parties into a position where a settlement was unavoidable. He showed extraordinary skill and devotion and has added lustre to the settlement by announcing that his three weeks of unremitting labor is to be regarded as a contribution to the national welfare and that he will accept no payment for his efforts.

It is a significant gesture which has not been lost on the community.

The main question ahead now is what is to happen to future relations in the industry. The settlement is for a nominal three years. Employers admit the possibility of increased wages provided that there is improved productivity, that restrictive practices are abolished and that greater efforts are made.

One aspect of the settlement not generally appreciated is that the men, in fact, hope that there will be no reduction in hours of work. They expect to work the full 43½ hours they worked before the dispute started and are not averse to a little more as well. The difference is that for the extra 1½ hours they will now receive overtime pay at time and a half and in that way recoup some of their losses more speedily than would be otherwise possible.

The over-riding consideration, the extent to which printing customers will accept the added costs imposed by the settlement is something which cannot be answered except by experience. Employers believe that there will be a substantial reduction in printing orders. Employees believe that the customers will smile and pay up.

Only time will tell.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

IN a busy wayside restaurant full of tired tourists waiting to be served, I was surprised to hear an elderly gentleman with a loud hearty voice at a nearby table congratulating the little fat waitress on the blueberry pie.

"Just like mother used to make!" he cried joyfully.

This astonished me, because I had just eaten blueberry pie, and it had about as much taste and character as, let us say, spinach pie.

"Yep," sang out the tourist, "my mother was the worst cook I ever knew."

When I left the restaurant, the hearty stranger was chewing his toothpick out on the patio, waiting for his wife to bring around their car.

"My mother," he told me, realizing

I had been impressed by his remarks,

"was the baby of the family and was the worst cook, the most confused housekeeper and generally the most ditzy and utterly lovable person in the world. Every time I go into a supermarket and see all the prepared food, the fantastic canned goods, I grieve for my mother. She would have been a wonderful cook today. One thing the present generation will never be able to say, and that is just like mother used to make." Mother doesn't make anything...

His wife pulled up in their car.

"Get in here, George," she interrupted sharply.

Plant Mines Metals

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Science Editor, North American Newspaper Alliance

WASHINGTON—A plant or animal that can separate heavy metals from sea water is being sought by oceanographers of the Woods Hole, Mass., Oceanographic Institution.

If such an organism can be found, says a Woods Hole report, it may be of very great industrial significance.

It has long been known that various parts of the sea floor are strewn with nodules of manganese mixed with small amounts of other metals. The idea that they may result from the activity of some living thing, which it might be possible to rear in captivity, is being pursued by Dr. John W. Graham, geologist of the Woods Hole staff.

Dr. Graham's finding of organic compounds, almost certainly the product of life processes, in some nodules collected from the Blake Plateau, elevated area of the Atlantic sea floor off the Carolinas, aroused his curiosity.

The nodules always are found in the coldest bottom water. None ever has turned up in the Mediterranean or Red Seas, where the bottom water is relatively warm.

"These facts are most easily explained," says an institution report, "by the notion that a manganese-concentrating organism, supported by a starvation diet, must live in a cold environment. The food that this organism consumes, it seems reasonable to speculate, consists of metabolically useful organic materials associated with heavy metals not normally soluble in sea water."

"The organism utilizes the organic portion for life processes and rejects the rest, which then accumulates as a complex mixture of manganese, iron, nickel, cobalt and copper, along with smaller quantities of other metals found in manganese nodules."

"Preparations now are being made to search for the suspected organism. It is possible that it might be cultivated and used to concentrate valuable metals from the sea."

A Policeman's Lot

(From The Toronto Globe and Mail)

A GAIN, news reports tell of hooligans fighting a lone police officer, while a jeering crowd looks on, none lifting a finger to help the constable. Such incidents are becoming all too frequent.

Respect for law and self-discipline are essential to the democratic life. Without them, democracy soon sinks into anarchy, corruption and self-seeking. In a free land, any citizen has the right to arrest a lawbreaker; he has the duty to help a police officer to do so. To stand idly by while a constable is beaten is to be indifferent to the basic rights guaranteeing his own freedom.

Assertions that the police invite antagonism by their own attitude are seldom borne out. Most Canadian policemen carry out tedious duties, especially unpopular traffic control, with courtesy and restraint. Nor can the reason for present hostility lie in past history. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police and its equally famous predecessor, the Royal North West Mounted Police, have justly earned a high reputation for integrity, courage and efficiency.

Police recruitment is difficult now; it will become even more difficult to obtain the right type of man if prospective recruits learn to equate joining a police force with exposing themselves to public vilification.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Russian libraries, says a columnist, arrange their books according to size rather than by title or author's name. This is a far cry from the smartly decorated Western home, where the books are arranged according to color.

A kindly social worker was doing her rounds at the local jail. For each prisoner she had a pleasant word of encouragement. Even the rum-soaked character in the end cell was treated to her warm, personal touch.

"Tell me," she asked, "Was it your weakness for liquor that brought you here?"

"Heck no, ma'am," was the reply. "You can't get anything in here!"

Noting a sociologist's comment that today's youngsters don't run away from home as often as those of a generation ago, the man next door says maybe it's because they never come home enough to run away from the place.

Interpreting the News

The Election Scene

By DON ROYT

Canadian Press Staff Writer

RESULTS of votes in Canada's last two Liberal-governed provinces could precipitate snap elections in Conservative New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Whichever way the ballots go in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, the final tally is going to put political analysts of the Progressive Conservatives to work.

In both Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, the federal government's policies are issues. Bellicose Premier Joseph Smallwood called the election, he said, because of the way Ottawa has "betrayed" Newfoundland in its treatment of the financial terms of union. He also has taken on organized labor. His opposition is divided into three splinter parties.

Prince Edward Island, governed by Liberals since 1935, could well become a Progressive Conservative Party political barometer. At dissolution, Premier Alex Matheson's Liberals held 26 seats in the legislature and the PCs four. But since the last provincial election in 1955 island voters have given all four federal seats to Conservatives.

What happens in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia if the Liberals of Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland are beaten or have their majorities sharply reduced? There will be two more elections before the year ends, say the experts.

Premier Hugh John Flemming of New Brunswick has dropped hints of a fall election. Results of balloting within the next few weeks will undoubtedly help him make up his mind.

A tougher problem, created by economic troubles in the Cape Breton coalfields, faces Premier Robert L. Stanfield, whose Conservative government took office in Nova Scotia in 1956.

He holds 23 to 43 seats in the legislature. The Liberals, who governed for 23 years, have 18 and the CCF one. One vacant seat has to be filled by next July. A Conservative victory in Prince Edward Island might lead the cautious premier to try his luck.

Letters to the Editor

Not to Be Condoned

I was surprised to note a Vancouver news item stating that two labor union officials convicted of contempt of court and each fined $3,000 had been released so they could attend a special union meeting, both their fines having been paid out of union funds specially used for that purpose; and that they were welcomed in great glee.

Are such carryings-on to be condoned? Many years ago a contempt of court case occurred in which the defendant was fined and friends of his immediately attempted to start a petition to raise the necessary funds to pay the fine. They were summarily brought to time and warned of dire consequences if they did not desist.

NOEL W. BARKER.

2923 Glen Lake Road.

Unwarranted Slur

The news item about the missing radio towers which appeared in The Daily Colonist Aug. 4 aroused my curiosity by reason of the fact that the E & N is the only railway running into Courtenay. I felt sure that if the facts were as stated the matter would have come to my attention.

I have inquired into the alleged loss of the Courtenay tower for a period of two weeks, and the facts are that it arrived in Courtenay on June 29, with Mr. William Brown being promptly notified. However, due to the fact that he made no firm arrangement for unloading the shipment from the car, which was his responsibility, it remained in the car until July 8.

I am assured that at no time did Mr. Brown or anyone else connected with the matter, including the railway and the express department who were directly concerned with the shipment, ever consider the shipment as mislaid or lost.

This gives an unwarranted poor opinion of the E & N personnel, and the services rendered to the customer.

D. C. HARTLEY,

Superintendent.

Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Co., Victoria.

Outside Interference

Is it possible that the labor rank and file do not know that their constant demand for higher wages and shorter hours is playing straight into the hands of the Communists? The same applies just as much to producers and middlemen who make too much profit out of the hapless public.

The laborer is worthy of his hire and the producer of his profit, but not when these assume such proportions as to harm the country's well-being and way of life.

Are we not suffering today, perhaps, from too much outside interference in the management of labor unions, and in the demands of foreign capital? It is high time these were checked by law.

E. W. ABRAHAM.

1125 Faithful Street.

Public Hangings?

Recently a crowd estimated variously at between 100,000 and 250,000 gathered spontaneously at Idlewild Airport, New York, to witness the possible crash landing of a jet liner. The airliner circled the airport for four hours using up its fuel prior to emergency landing. The crowd which gathered in anticipation of a disaster blocked the runways and approaches to the airport in such a way that emergency equipment could not reach the scene.

The public authorities in New York were appalled by this particular example of mass sadism.

This instinct, which is in all of us, is encouraged and in fact panders to by certain types of so-called sport. At the Grand National steeplechase in England every year large crowds gather at the well-known suicide jumps, such as Becher's Brook, to see horses and men fall. The same morbid curiosity is seen at the ringside of a wrestling match or chuck-wagon race similar to the one at the Calgary Stampede.

And yet authorities are still amazed when an incident occurs as it did at Idlewild Airport. Why not have public hangings in the Empire Stadium with free passes to the bleachers for the Brownies?

T. I. HUGHES,

Executive Director.

British Columbia SPCA, Vancouver.

Lease-Buy Plan

Cost of City Hall To Be 'Painless'

A study by city officials of Dominion Construction Co.'s new city hall lease-purchase proposal and "other ideas" is close to completion, City Comptroller Dennis Young said yesterday.

Mr. Young said a report will be given to City Manager C. C. Wyatt on his return Monday from vacation, for submission to city council. Council plans to debate the new city hall proposals at its first fully-attended meeting after its summer recess, probably early in September.

Mr. Young wouldn't divulge the contents of the report but indicated it will support construction of a new city hall and propose a comparatively painless method of financing it.

"Are you in favor of a new city hall?" he was asked.

"Yes."

"Will it cost the taxpayers much?"

"I only favor it if it doesn't cost the taxpayers much."

The study was ordered by city council after it received from Dominion Construction a proposal to build an eight-storey, $1,800,000 city hall at Courtney and Blanshard.

The Vancouver company offerred to lease the building to the city for about $130,000 a year for 30 years, the city having the right to purchase it any time after the 17th year for a decreasing portion of the original cost.

(ON MOST CARS YOU CAN'T EVEN BUY 'EM)

YOU'RE SAFER THAN YOU'VE EVER BEEN

In recent official NASCAR tests, Chevy's Safety-Master brakes were proved the best in the low-priced field, out-stopping all other cars in the test by a wide, safe margin. And Chevy's bonded linings last up to 66% longer.

UNRIVALLED BODY BY FISHER QUALITY

Chevy brings you the quality of solid Fisher Body construction. Body and frame members are welded for maximum strength. You're surrounded by the safety of double walls of steel. Here's engineering that most competitive cars don't begin to equal.

ADJUSTABLE VISORS CUT OUT THE DAZZLE

A comfort convenience that pays big dividends in safety. No more blinding glare from front or sides... you can adjust Chevy's visors up or down, or side to side. Just another way Chevrolet puts your safety and convenience first.

MORE ROOM TO PACK IN AND STRETCH OUT

Check Chevy's unsurpassed roominess for yourself. You'll find Chevy is a full 5.7 inches wider than a major competitor... giving you man-sized, lounge-like comfort. And Chevy even outshines some high priced sedans in headroom. Comfort test a Chevrolet today.

10% GREATER FUEL ECONOMY WITH THE NEW HI-THRIFT 6

Save over every mile you drive! Other cars claim economy... Chevy gives it. And along with economy Chevy gives you a peppy, safe margin of power to get you out of trouble—fast. Here's engineering that is unsurpassed by any other full-size car.

NO WORRY ABOUT REAR DOOR SAFETY

Complete peace of mind when you have children in the car. Chevrolet's door locking system is the handiest you could wish for—virtually child-proof. Just one Chevy key fits ignition, trunk and glove compartment, another convenience most other cars can't offer.

SEE HOW EASY IT IS TO LOOK OUT OF A CHEVY

Chevy's handsome Panoramic windshield sure broadens your horizon! Chevy actually brings you up to 80% more glass area than before... as much as 30% more seeing area than in competitive makes.

NEXT BEST THING TO POWER STEERING

Chevy's standard Ball-Race steering gives you sports car handling ease... makes turning and parking a pleasure. Most other cars can only offer out-moded worm-gear steering. Visit your Chevrolet dealer and feel the big difference.

MAGIC-MIRROR FINISH—GOODBY TO WAXING WORRIES

Here's yet another way that Chevy really shines. That gem-hard Magic-Mirror lustre just about looks after itself. Just normal washing will keep the dazzling showroom sheen for up to three years... holding the value of your investment in Chevy.

THE CONVENIENCE OF FOOT BRAKE PARKING

Another Chevrolet quality extra. A touch of your toe locks the parking brake on... a flick of an easy-to-reach lever releases it. Still another standard Chevrolet feature that other cars can't offer, even at extra cost.

CRANK-OPERATED VENTIPANES

Know how easy it is to split fingernails when opening some vent windows? It isn't so on a Chevy. A quick crank of a handle and instantly you have exactly the amount of ventilation you want. Always look to Chevy for features that are most convenient and practical.

Credit Cards Open Sesame To Luxury, Jail

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—For 10 days, credit cards opened the door to luxury living for Bruce Anderson. Monday, they opened the door to a Miami jail. The credit cards worked like magic to satisfy Anderson's taste for expensive cars, travel and parties. The trouble was, they were not his. Police found the 25-year-old Anderson asleep in a rented car. A friendly young man, Anderson praised the institution of the credit card and told freely what it did for him after he found himself broke in Los Angeles July 30 while staying with a man named Floyd Dollar.

To remedy his financial situation, Anderson lifted Dollar's three credit cards and started on a cross-country tour during which he ran up $5,000 in bills. The cards were for gasoline, air travel and cash on the Bank of America. "No one ever questioned the cards," he said. "It was like magic."

When he was arrested, he was sleeping off the effects of an 18-hour champagne party in his $100-a-day hotel suite.

Patrons Walk Out

Cartoon of God Rouses Storm

VANCOUVER (CP)—An estimated 100 patrons walked out Monday on a Czechoslovakian cartoon, "The Creation of the World," at the International Film Festival.

Reporters heard such comments as "blasphemous," "horrible" and "a nauseating waste of film" from the departing customers. Another 1,100 persons stayed on through the full cartoon.

Cartoonist Jean Effel depicted God as a bald-headed, white-whiskered old man, stumbling through the world's first six days with frustrating setbacks.

"Primitive... utter nonsense... repulsive claptrap," said the fans who walked out.

Scenes showed God hatching little boy angels from large speckled eggs, and shooting stars into space with a trigger-action bazooka.

One patron jumped from her seat and left the theatre after a scene showing a dog using God's leg as a fire hydrant.

But author George Tabori, one of the festival judges, called the feature "a charming, amusing movie."

Ketchikan Kids Ready to Play

First of seven teams to arrive in Victoria for the Babe Ruth regional baseball tournament starting tomorrow at Royal Athletic Park, this Ketchikan all-star club is also the first Alaskan team ever to play in the tourney. The Alaskan club meets Victoria all-stars in its first game Friday night. Tournament opens tomorrow night at 6:30, when Dallas, Ore., meets New Westminster, the B.C. champions. —(Photo by Bill Boucher.)

Alaskan Babe Ruth Stars Land Here with Confidence

Alaska's Ketchikan all-stars arrived in Victoria last night to find that in some quarters they've been counted out of the Babe Ruth regional baseball tournament before it's even started. The slight hasn't shaken their confidence.

"It's a funny thing," coach Harry Akeo remarked cheerfully. "We got on the plane and saw where one newspaper said we didn't have a chance because it's the first time Alaska has had a team in the regional playoff."

"But it didn't bother the boys when they saw it. We came down to play baseball, and no one can tell me we've lost a game before we've even played it."

The Alaskan team is made up of the pick of players in Ketchikan's thriving four-team league, now in its third year of operation. It is the only Babe Ruth League in Alaska, and therefore drew an automatic berth in the regional tourney, as did Victoria, the host team.

Tournament play starts tomorrow night at Royal Athletic Park, but the Ketchikan team doesn't see action until Friday, when it plays the Victoria all-stars. Meanwhile, they are billeted throughout Victoria, and will be taken to see their first lacrosse game at night at Memorial Arena.

It's impossible to compare teams in the tournament, since they come from widely scat-

AT THE 19th
With Harry Young

The Willingdon Cup is this week's big attraction for B.C. golf fans. To be played over 36 holes on Saturday at the Marine Golf Club in Vancouver, it serves as a curtain raiser for the Canadian Amateur Championship to be played on the same course next week.

Since the Willingdon trophy was played for first in 1928, Ontario and British Columbia teams have dominated the situation. British Columbia won it for the first time in 1933 and now has its name on the trophy seven times.

As four of these triumphs have been since 1952, the modern trend is rather that B.C. is increasing the tempo of its challenge against its main eastern rival.

A further influence in favor of a B.C. victory on this occasion is that the home team has won on the two previous occasions on which the Willingdon trophy has been played in B.C.

The only other winner of the trophy is Quebec, who won in 1930 and 1937.

The B.C. team this year has an all Vancouver line-up, consisting of Ron Willey, Bob Kidd, John Johnston and Bert Tiechurst—all with former Willingdon experience.

Kidd and Johnston will have the advantage of playing over their own course, while Willey and Tiechurst are members of Fraser View.

The visiting Willingdon Cup players are due in Vancouver tomorrow and they are being taken to the football game as guests of the championship committee that evening.

The colorful flag raising ceremony takes place at Marine Drive Club on Friday at 5 o'clock with the Seaforth army band in attendance.

The first round starts at 8:15 and the second at noon on Saturday. Tickets for the Willingdon Cup games and the Canadian Amateur may be obtained for $5 from John Carlow at Gorge Vale Golf Club.

Daily tickets are $2 for the Willingdon Cup games and $2 for the championship final, with $1 the charge on other days.

At the moment it looks as if Victoria would have only three competitors in the Canadian Amateur. Leading the local entrants for next week's test at Marine Drive is City champion Frank Scroggs of Uplands.

Others who have sent in their entries are Bill Wakeham, former Canadian junior champion and Dr. Roger Ross, both of Gorge Vale.

Dr. George Bigelow of the Victoria club was another potential local entry, but it appears the gallant doctor will not be back in time from his British tour. His last letter from Glenaeles Hotel stated he expected to be back about Aug. 24.

About 150 players have entered for the Amateur. They include 50 leading U.S. players, and about 70 from the Vancouver area. The remainder come from other parts of Canada.

Qualifying rounds will be played Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Shirley Naysmith, who finished first among the B.C. players and Mrs. Joan Lawson, the Victoria representatives on the B.C. Interprovincial team at Toronto, did not stop over for the Canadian Ladies' Championship this week.

Back in the city at the weekend Mrs. Naysmith said she had been deeply impressed with the long hitting of the younger Canadian competitors. Most of them were much longer off the tee than the B.C. representatives, and she stressed the need for more coaching among girl players in the province.

Allan MacLeod, 19, is to meet Ron Cuth in the final of the Gorge Vale club championship over 36 holes Sunday.

Allan won his way into the final by staging a remarkable finish against Bill Wakeham in the semi-final. Three down with six to play, Al shot five consecutive birdies, winning them all to finish the match 2 and 1. MacLeod was out in 38 and home in 32.

In the other semi final Cuth beat Bill Paterson 4 and 3. In the "B" championship final, Keith Mathieson opposes Norman Lacree, a well-known former hockey player.

Golf is spreading northward on Vancouver Island. During an up-Island holiday trip I learned that fast growing Campbell River now has a five-hole golf course at Glen Alden, with more holes to follow.

Hitherto Courtenay and Comox were the northernmost golfing outposts on the Island.

Homer Ties Playoff Game For Morrisons

Catcher Rod Sullivan's eighth-inning home run gave Morrisons an 8-8 tie with Duncan Mayo Lumber last night at Central Park and forced a replay of their section one Senior Open Softball League playoff game Friday night. The game was called because of darkness.

In section two play at Heywood Avenue Park, Mayo took a 2-0 lead in their best-of-seven series with MacNutt's Grocery by trouncing the Grocers, 15-1, MacNutt's committed 10 errors.

Tomorrow night at 6:45, D & D Tire meets Half Way House at Central Park and Tudor House meets Six Mile at Heywood Avenue.

Shamrocks' Task Easier; Nanaimo Fading Fast

Nanaimo Labatts, their lineup riddled by injuries and their playing strength reduced for various other reasons, are making it extremely easy for Victoria Shamrocks to win the last of three Inter-City Lacrosse League playoff berths.

Flooring a club minus at least 10 players who were counted as regulars at some time this season, Labatts took an 18-6 thumping from Carlings at Vancouver last night.

They looked so bad that their playoff cause could be considered practically hopeless even if the Shamrocks were to lose their remaining two games, both with New Westminster O'Keefe's. Labatts would have to show tremendous improvement to have a chance to win their last game, against Carlings at Nanaimo Saturday.

In any event, the Shamrocks can qualify for the playoffs either tonight at Memorial Arena or tomorrow night at Queen's Park in New Westminster. All they need to make it mathematically airtight is one win over the Canadian champions.

Coach Norm Baker, positive his charges would settle it all tonight, announced that he was sticking with the lineup which knocked off Labatts twice last week when a double win was necessary to keep Rocks in the playoff fight.

That would leave Whitey Severson between Jim McNeill and Tom Collett, with Jackie Showers, Bob McKee and Jack Wilson again forming a rookie line. Ron Jay, Stu Smith and Bert Bertioia form the other line and Tom English, Ed Kowalyk, Al and Derry Davies and Al Gill will play on defence in front of George Johnston.

As for last night's game about the only noteworthy item was the fact that Labatts could well have set a new I.C.L.L. record for futility.

They were blanked for the first two quarters and started the third quarter without a goal for their last 52 minutes and 50 seconds of play. No information was available on when Labatts got their first goal but it is thought they started the third quarter with a record.

Labatts only had 11 players besides their two rookie goalkeepers. The list of the missing included Fred Fulla as well as coach Don Ashbee, Don Sherry, Lisle Scott, Gogi Stewart, Tom McVie, Jack Howse, Ed McDonald, Ross Roskamp and Norm Kowalyk.

Bob Parry, coming fast of late, led Carlings with three goals. Seven players scored twice in the complete rout.

Willies Working Wonders For San Francisco Giants

It just has to be said that San Francisco Giants are giving the rest of the National League a case of the Willies.

First it was Willie Mays, then it was rookie Willie McCovey and now it's Willie Kirk.

inning when he clouted his 19th homer with two mates aboard. Then, after St. Louis Cardinals had fought back to tie with two runs in the ninth, Kirkland broke it up in the 10th with a run-scoring single which broke the 4-4 deadlock.

Result boosted the San Francisco lead to three games, biggest of the season for the Giants, as Los Angeles Dodgers were beaten in the 10th and Milwaukee Braves had to settle for a doubleheader split.

The second-place Dodgers got a run in the 10th to take a 4-3 lead over Chicago Cubs, lost when Alvin Dark and Tony Taylor, who seldom hit them far, connected for home runs.

Over in the American League, New York Yankees have been wondering although it is all but impossible for them to make up the distance they are behind in the 43 games they have left.

With all their injured and sick players back in action except Billy Skowron and Andy Carey, the Yanks lengthened their win streak to six games, their best of the season, by knocking off Boston Red Sox, 8-5, with the help of four errors.

But while both the leading Chicago White Sox and the second-place Cleveland Indians lost, the Yanks are still 10 games off the pace and 11 games out on the losing side.

Detroit Tigers clobbered the White Sox, 8-1, while Kansas City Athletics took care of the Indians, 7-3, as ex-Indian Bud Daley became the first pitcher in the five-year major league history of Kansas City to win as many as 13 games.

King Fisherman Contest Tackle-Busting Time On Vancouver Island

It's tackle-busting time on Vancouver Island and the feature news about the generally excellent salmon fishing is about the big ones.

They're in — in Campbell River, Comox Bay, the Alberni Canal, Cowichan Bay, Saanich Inlet and in waters off the south coast from Sooke to Ten Mile Point.

Comox Bay has had one of the best starts for some years. Bob Stanley of the Elk Hotel at Comox reported about 30

An unprecedented flood of entries has resulted in an unavoidable delay in announcing the winners of the July hidden-weight prizes and crests in the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest.

However, it is expected that the hidden-weight winners and the tie and spring salmon and trout and small-mouth black bass crests will be announced by Sunday. Coho crest-winners were announced last Sunday.

big salmon, most of them in the tie (30 pounds or more) class taken Sunday morning.

And he sent along as proof some entries in the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest. Biggest was a 50-pounder taken by Len Francis, who also had a 45-pounder. There were five others of more than 40 pounds and nine between 30 and 40 pounds.

Nahmint Bay in the Alberni Canal is coming on, should be excellent by the end of the week. Four tyes were taken Monday from seven boats and four more yesterday from a dozen boats but with tides improving daily and signs of more fish moving in, the weekend should see the Alberni Canal tye season in full swing, both at Port Alberni and Nahmint.

Campbell River is also producing big ones, the latest list from Painter's Lodge including seven tye-sized salmon.

And so it goes. Saanich Inlet has been yielding a larger than usual number of salmon over 20 pounds, anglers have been scoring off Victoria, particularly Trial Island, and chances of a big one are good from William Head to Otter Point, and the Cowichan Bay run has been in for the past two weeks.

ARCHIE MOORE
...is this it?

Archie's Crown in Jeopardy?

NEW YORK (UPI) — Time, tide and the tortures of making weight tonight will spell the end of Archie Moore's seven-year reign as light-heavyweight champion of the world.

The muscular marvel from San Diego won fighter of the year and fight of the decade honors last year when he came off the duck four times to stop Yvon Durelle. It was one of the ring's greatest displays of gameness.

But it just may go the other way at Montreal tonight despite the 3 to 1 odds favoring Old Arch in this rematch.

It isn't so much, according to veteran fight men, that Archie is 43 going on 49 or that Durelle, the fistie fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., is riding a rising tide. They see Moore's eclipse in the struggle, simply move up into a heavier weight class. Ray Robinson for years struggled to stay in the welterweight division where he had a lock on the competition. But after repeated doctor's orders that weight making could be severely injurious to his health, he moved up into the middleweight bracket.

Ageless Archie can't be rapped too readily on the basis of his age, which remains a deeper boxing mystery than the names of the fighters controlled by Frankie Carbo. He claims he was born in 1916, which would make him "only" 43. His mother set the date as 1913, which would make him 46.

Nobody can contest the fact, however, that he has been boxing as a recognized professional since 1936 — a mere matter of 23 years. The fact is that, in the ring, he still moves like a young sprout and it is an admitted fact that the last thing a boxer loses is his punch. If Yvon's chin gets in the way, you can expect Durelle to go.

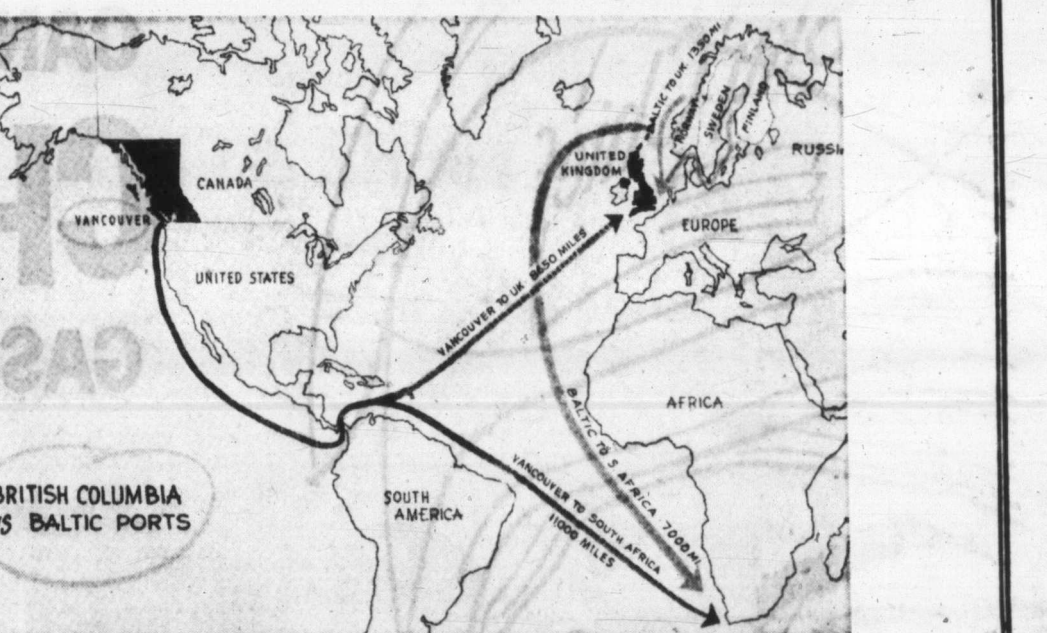

The last time around, it was the grizzled one who came on in the late stages to flatten his younger opponent. But the big question in the boxing business is "how long can this go on?"

They insist that each time Archie makes the weight he loses just that much and even the mint can run out of nickels if the demand is great enough. So tonight, they say in taking the short end, could be hail and farewell for the seemingly ageless one.

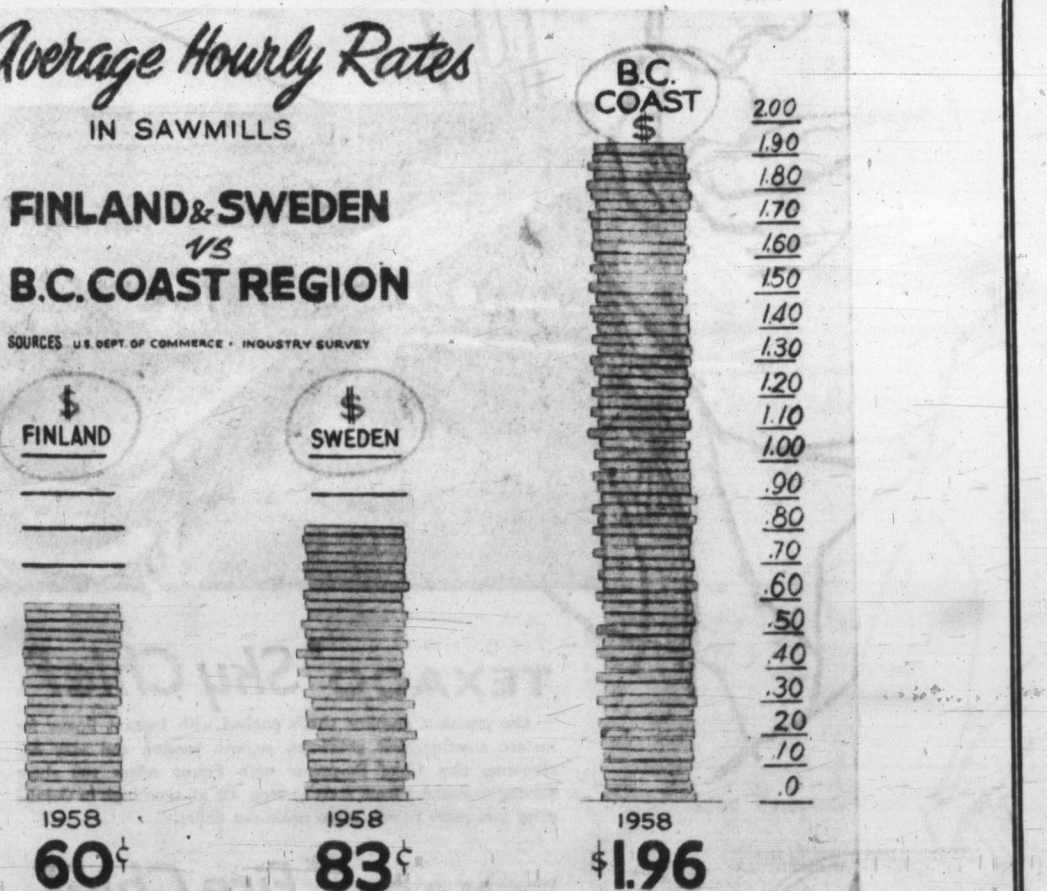

You can't say it doesn't sense.

WHY WE ARE LOSING OUR OVERSEAS MARKETS...

Baltic Countries, including Russia, have shorter hauls, lower freight costs

AND BALTIC WAGES ARE ONLY A FRACTION OF OURS

Here, in easy-to-see form, is the simple story of why the British Columbia export lumber industry can not endlessly add to the cost of making lumber.

Our chief payroll industry in this province must ship farther than foreign competitors.

It is paralyzed by a strike caused by wage demands that would worsen an already difficult position. This strike must be settled on terms that will not destroy companies and jobs.

Soldier Barbet uses Dog As 'Survival' Rehearsal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army is looking into the case of a recent West Point graduate who killed and barbecued a dog to show civilian friends something about living off the land.

Second Lieut. Andrew O'Meara, 22, son of a general, said he was rehearsing for survival training he will receive later in his military career.

Planners Drafted For Ghost Town

Members of the 1958 B.C. Centennial committee were drafted into new duties as a Barkerville restoration advisory committee yesterday by the provincial cabinet. The centennial committee had recommended an advisory board to continue restoration of the historic gold rush centre. The recreation department has already spent up to $400,000 in renovating the Cariboo ghost town.

Hoots Greet Nkrumah On Way to See Queen

BALMORAL, Scotland (UPI) — Ghana's Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah arrived last night to meet Queen Elizabeth after being bombarded with protests by a right-wing group against the idea of giving the Queen's baby a Ghanaian name.

Nkrumah was subjected to loudspeaker denunciations by the rightist League of Empire Loyalists when he left London.

The league was objecting to present plans for Ghana to become a republic, while remaining in the Commonwealth.

But the "impertinent" thing, members said, was suggesting names for the royal child.

KWAME NKUMAH
... republican

Nkrumah has already said that he does not intend to propose any such thing, though he would be "delighted" if it came to pass.

A Ghana newspaper has suggested that the child be named Prince Kwame Ghana or Princess Amma Ghana.

Nkrumah was one of the first people outside the royal family and court to be informed of the Queen's pregnancy since it meant the cancellation of a planned visit to his country.

There has been some speculation that Nkrumah, the first official outside the country to see Queen Elizabeth since her pregnancy became known, will make a bid for the Duke of Edinburgh or Princess Margaret to visit Ghana and the Queen herself to make the now-cancelled Ghana tour later.

Burglars Get Picture And Last Laugh, Too

LOS ANGELES (AP)—When burglars carted off three photo duplicating machines from his office three weeks ago, Fred Ernst thought he had the last laugh—"They can't use those machines because no one else in this area has photo copy paper that fits."

Ernst isn't laughing any more. Burglars broke into his office again Monday night and took $1,000 worth of the photo copy paper.

Wave of Arrests Sweeping Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—New arrests were reported in the Cuban countryside Tuesday in a drive against the first major conspiracy threatening Fidel Castro.

It was understood that government troops skirmished with counter-revolutionary forces in central Las Villas province, but a communications blackout prevented confirmation.

However, advices filtering through the military screen told of numerous arrests in two Las Villas cities, Santa Clara and Cienfuegos. Government officials said Monday the plot—rumored to have called for an armed uprising Tuesday—had been crushed.

As many as 3,000 persons were interned at military camps for questioning. Most will be freed after police sort them out.

One is ex-senator Arturo Hernandez Tellaheche, reported choice of the conspirators to replace President Osvaldo Dorticos if their plot succeeded.

Unions Back Labor Party On A-Ban

LONDON (Reuters)—Leaders of two national trade unions, with nearly 450,000 members, have decided to support the Labor party's policy on the hydrogen bomb.

This policy calls for creation of a non-nuclear "club" of all countries except the U.S. and Russia as a first step towards total world disarmament.

The Unions are the Union of Shop Distributive and Allied Workers and the National Union of Boot and Shoe Operatives.

The policy is being challenged by the Transport and General Workers Union—biggest in Britain—which opposes bomb tests and productions.

Cheers Greet Boys

DUNCAN—A cheering crowd of more than 400 welcomed the "big" Little League All-Stars home last night when the western champs arrived in a 48-car cavalcade and were told they are "the best."

"You have given the best performance in Little League baseball I've seen in 30 years," said Wilf Cain of Victoria, vice-president of the Little League Association of B.C.

"You played professional ball... and your manager just outsmarted all the other teams and their managers," he said.

The 14 12-year-old players, dressed in their uniforms for the ceremony on a flat-deck truck in Pioneer Park, were also told, "This is one of the most wonderful things that has ever happened to our league," by Lyle Reid, one of the founders of the league here.

"They've been an outstanding success wherever they've gone and been perfect gentlemen. In spite of their size, they have made history," said Mayor Jack Dobson.

On their way home from Penticton, where they won the Western Canada title from Edmonton, they were met at Nanaimo by Mayor Pete Maffeo and received congratulations from Saanich Reeve George Chatterton.

"We're pretty choked up at the reception here and everywhere we've been," said team manager Jarvis Jickling. "The team leaves Saturday for Portland for the Northwest U.S. final. If they win it, they will play games at Sacramento Aug. 14 and 15."

"If they play ball the way they have, like professionals, they'll be in the Little League World Series Aug. 21 and 22 at Williamsburg, Pennsylvania," said league president Orville Paisley.

Defenders Of Market Plot Upset

Defenders of Victoria's condemned public market will attempt to upset in court the city bylaw authorizing demolition of the historic building.

Margaret Peterson, president of the Society for the Preservation of the Public Market, said at a public meeting last night the society would base its case on a clause in the bylaw preamble.

She branded as false the declaration that the market "steadily declined" due to circumstances "beyond the control" of the city council.

The decline, she charged, is due to "the city's mismanagement."

Only seven attended the society meeting last night.

Play Program Children Show Talents

Saanich parks supervisor, A. E. Richman, has arranged a display of handicrafts made during Saanich's summer recreation program to show parents what their children have been doing.

The display will be held in the Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall, West Saanich Road, between 10 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

The 16 parks which had summer recreation programs will be represented, each with its own display. Handicrafts on show will include ceramics, woodwork, needlework, shellwork, copperwork, raffia work, paperwork and plaques.

Postal Pledge For Langford

Langford residents have the assurances of Victoria postmaster Robert Reid that a new sub-office will be established in their community the moment authorization arrives from Ottawa.

"And it is expected momentarily," Mr. Reid added. "We realize the inconvenience to residents in the lack of such an office, and have pointed this out in representations to Ottawa."

Victoria sub-post office No. 17, located in Langford at 706 Goldstream, closed July 31. Since then, Langford people wishing to buy stamps or money orders have had to go to Colwood Corners, Glen Lake, or come into Victoria.

Seal Hunter In Old Days Dies in City

A pioneer Victorian who was one of the last survivors of the famous Bering Sea seal hunters made famous in Jack London's novel "Seawolf" died in St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday.

He was George Wellington Cressford, 87, a personal friend of the man many believe was the model for London's ferocious central character, "Wolf" Larsen.

In his sealing days, Mr. Cressford matched wits with the deadly Russian patrols off Copper Island when the sealers would slip within the prohibited 30-mile zone around the Russian coast in search of valuable fur seals.

He was seal hunter and one of the charterers of a vessel which was "high boat" among the sealing fleet in 1895.

When the sealing boats were not running from the Russians, they were often fleeing the guns of U.S. patrol boats which tried to maintain a 60-mile prohibited area around Alaska and adjacent islands.

Mr. Cressford came to Victoria from New Brunswick at the age of three, travelling with his parents to San Francisco by rail and to Victoria aboard the old ship Pacific.

Recalling his boyhood a few months before he died, he remembered when he was 11 watching six square riggers riding out a storm in Royal Roads and seeing four of them driven ashore.

His father was employed in a tannery on what is now the grounds of Royal Roads.

G. W. CRESSFORD... vivid memories

Mr. Cressford went to sea in 1889 as a cabin boy on the schooner Ariel for pay of $8 a month.

In 1905 he left the sealing fleet and returned permanently to Victoria where he worked as a carpenter until his retirement in 1945.

He is survived by his wife Nellie, at home, 43 Hibberston Crescent.

Funeral will be held on Friday at 2 p.m. from Chaplins' funeral home, with Rev. Roy McGillivray officiating.

Ladies' Day Interrupted As Hope Goes Golfing

PORT ALBERNI—Ladies' day at the local golf course was enlivened by the presence of comedian Bob Hope.

The comedian and friends played the course under the interested scrutiny of waiting "Ladies' Day" players. Neither visitors nor members complained of the effect on their game.

Hope, who is staying at Qualicum Beach, drove over for the game.

Mayor Declares War On Garbage Dumpers

NANAIMO—Mayor Pete Maffeo has declared war on illegal garbage dumpers after viewing (and smelling) the remains of 11 dogs which were deposited just off Seventh Street.

He has called a meeting at city hall for Friday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the problem. RCMP, Chamber of Commerce, city aldermen, Harwood trustees and Recreation Minister Westwood have been asked to attend.

The mayor was out Tuesday viewing the tons of old paper, rotting perishable items and old car bodies at the roadsides along Seventh Street, Cedar and East Wellington.

Police have already secured one conviction against a "dumper" and two more charges are pending.

Duncan Men Talk Of Radio Station

DUNCAN—A group of city businessmen are discussing establishing a permanent radio station in Duncan, Mayor Jack Dobson said last night.

"Nanaimo and Victoria are now competing for Duncan business," he said. "Some of the businessmen here have decided they don't want to be caught in the middle."

Mayor Dobson said he had been told the Board of Broadcasting Governors had delayed discussions on an application for a licence for the area, pending a submission for a local station.

"I think the council will go along with them," he said. CKDA in Victoria has applied for a "satellite" station, but Nanaimo's CHUB is opposed, claiming prior rights.

'Don't Be Narrow-Minded... Victoria All One'

Premier Bennett had a little bit of chiding yesterday for bickering Greater Victoria municipalities.

"Victoria is Greater Victoria... Victoria is all one area... In this great province we must not be too narrow-minded," he said.

"I am in favor of co-operation... if they want to amalgamate that is their business, but there should be the closest co-operation," he added.

He said a person driving in Victoria "never knows whether he is in Victoria, Esquimalt or Oak Bay. It is all one area."

The premier explained his feeling when it was pointed out that the $200,000 a year Capital District Improvement Commission grant is largely being spent outside of Victoria though the grant is in lieu of taxes on provincial government buildings in Victoria.

He indicated there would be no change in the policy of a grant in lieu of taxes. Statement came when he was asked if, now that the province is out of debt and will have $25,000,000 a year to spend, the government might not consider paying taxes instead of a grant. "The government of British Columbia treats its capital city better than any other provincial government in Canada treats its capital."

"Just look around everywhere," he said. "The new government house—tens of thousands of dollars on beautification—and next fall we start building a new courthouse."

He said Victoria is the capital of B.C. and Vancouver is the great business capital and both are treated better by the government than any other cities in Canada.

"There is only one place for the capital... and that is Victoria," he said when asked if Vancouver requested a move of the capital to the mainland when the cabinet met there Thursday.

Nikita in City? 'Great Idea'

Mayor Tom Alsbury wants Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to visit Vancouver, and if the Russian does, Mayor Percy Scurrell wants him to visit Victoria, too.

"If he comes to Vancouver, I'd be glad to have him visit Victoria," Mayor Scurrell said yesterday. "The more he sees of North America, the better it will be."

Mayor Alsbury said he would wire Prime Minister Diefenbaker asking that Vancouver be included if Mr.

Khrushchev was going to make a tour. The more the Soviet premier's trip was extended, the more valuable it would be "for him and for us," he said.

"I'm a great believer in visiting other countries, meeting people and getting to know their problems," Mayor Scurrell agreed.

"It's always a good idea to see the people of other places and get acquainted. It's better than diplomacy."

"It's the best thing Premier Khrushchev could do," he added. "My training in Rotary has taught me that."

Explain Strike Fund Boasts, Premier Urges IWA Leaders

DARLENE MILLS

JANICE ALBANY

SHARON HOLDRIDGE

'Mothers Begging For Help'

Premier Bennett yesterday called upon the IWA leadership to "make some statement of how they are using" the reported $2,000,000 strike fund.

"I only hope the union leaders are using the strike fund to help the women and children," he said.

MANY LETTERS

The premier said he has received many letters from IWA wives and mothers saying "they need help and can't get it unless they beg for it although leaders boast of a $2,000,000 strike fund."

Meanwhile, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks, in an optimistic frame of mind, said he feels "there will be a major development" in B.C.'s strike situation within 48 hours.

CLEAR REFERENCE

But he made it clear he was not referring specifically to the strike of 27,000 coastal woodworkers.

"I myself feel that the general public will not for long be prepared to let both sides sulk in a corner," he said.

The premier said Labor Minister Wicks has been "devoting a lot of his time to the strike situation."

Joe Morris, IWA president, said families of union members should not be suffering deprivation as a result of the walkout.

"We administer the strike fund according to rules and there should be no one starving or begging," Mr. Morris said.

WRITE TO LOCAL

He said that any one who needs help should write to their local union instead of Premier Bennett.

"We would never deny any union member's family assistance if they could prove they need it. The fund is there for that purpose," Mr. Morris said.

Three Girls Seek Red Feather Title

Three girls have been nominated to take part in the "Miss Red Feather" contest which will be judged Sept. 25, the night the 1959 Greater Victoria Community Chest appeal opens.

Entrants range from four years to 17.

Youngest of the Miss Red Feather contestants is Janice Albany, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Albany, 1215 Craigflower Road. She has been picked to represent the Family and Children's Service.

Sharon Holdridge, 2832 Wyndett, 17 years, has been sponsored by the YWCA. A graduate of the Y-Teens Club, Sharon is at present a counsellor at the Family and Children's Service Sunshine Camp.

Sixteen-year-old Darlene Mills, North Park Street, an active member of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, has been picked to represent the group.

All 22 agencies which make up the 1959 Chest organization have been invited to nominate someone for the contest. There are no age limits.

A fourth agency, the John Howard Society, has announced it will enter the contest, but nobody has yet been picked.

Winner will be a symbol and inspiration for the Community Chest Appeal.

Meteorites Clouded Out Show Returns Tonight

Heavy cloud cover over Victoria until late last night obscured a "one-a-minute" display of meteorites in the northwest sky.

But there are still at least two nights left for the display to be seen, said Dr. Andrew McKellar, astronomer at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

Usually the display lasts from Aug. 11 to Aug.

Mountainous Seas

Tug on Fringe Of Typhoon

Victoria tug Sudbury II, with a pair of 10,000-ton Liberty ships in tow, was hove-to yesterday in mountainous seas off the north coast of Japan.

Her Victoria skipper, Captain Harley Blagborne, and crew were riding out a violent storm on the fringe of "Typhoon Ellen" with gale force winds of 45 miles per hour.

Officials of Island Tug & Barge Company, owners of the tug, said yesterday latest reports showed the typhoon centre moving away from Sudbury II, but the storm was described as becoming more active.

They believe the tug and its huge tow will get underway again sometime today.

The Sudbury is about eight days out of the Japanese port where the two Second World War freighters will be broken up for scrap.

Meanwhile, another Island Tug & Barge vessel, the tug Cambrian Salvor with the 32,000-ton Chilean battleship Almirante Latorre in tow, has covered about one-third of the 4,500-mile leg from Honolulu to Japan and is in the clear after dodging "Hurricane Dot" for two days last week.

Saanich public works committee last night decided to spend $9,000 on brightening street corners in the municipality.

Nine Persons Hurt In Head-On Crash

Five Victorians were among nine injured persons, five of them children, taken to hospital following a two-car, head-on collision at Northwest Bay near Parksville yesterday.

In satisfactory condition at Nanaimo General Hospital last night were Harold Victor Quiring, PCLCI, of 973 Dunsmuir Street, driver of one car, who suffered a possible broken arm; his wife, Dorothy, who suffered a fractured jaw and facial bruises, and their children, Leonard, about 7, and Barbara, about 3, who suffered abrasions. All four were treated for shock.

An unidentified neighborly youth, passenger in the Quiring car, was released from hospital following treatment of minor injuries.

Also in satisfactory condition were Peter Bitter of Alberni, driver of the other car, who suffered a head cut and chest injuries; his wife Gertrude, who suffered injuries to the face and leg, and their two daughters, Maria, about 21 months, and Tina, about 9 months, who suffered multiple bruises and shock.

RCMP said the collision occurred on a straight stretch of the Island Highway about 11 a.m. They said that both vehicles—large sedans—were extensively damaged and it appeared one of them had crossed into the oncoming lane causing the crash.

Injured were taken to hospital by ambulances from Qualicum Beach and Nanaimo.

Widow's Mortgage Target Tonight

Door-to-door canvas of Langford and nearby territory will be made this evening to help the widow of a volunteer fireman pay off the $4,600 mortgage on her home.

Edward Fisher, 47, collapsed late last month while helping fight a bush fire and died later in hospital. He left his widow and three small children.

The fund was launched by Langford and District Lions Club and the volunteer fire department.

Yesterday, donations totalled almost $700.

Canvassers are still needed to help in tonight's door-to-door drive and donations may be sent to 706 Goldstream or will be picked up if donors telephone GR 8-3515.

He will leave Victoria Monday morning for the meeting attended by 4,000 botanists from 72 countries.

Central Saanich council will correct an error in the spelling of a road named in honor of one of the peninsula's earliest settlers.

A letter, read to council last night, from the Saanich Pioneer Society pointed out that the name "Thompson" was in error. The pioneer family's name is "Thomson."

The road is off Mt. Newton Crossroads.

B.C. Botanist Plans Paper

Dr. Adam Szczawinski, provincial botanist, will present a paper on B.C. forests at the ninth International Botanical Congress in Montreal Aug. 16 to 29.

He will leave Victoria Monday morning for the meeting attended by 4,000 botanists from 72 countries.

'B.C. Not Pushing'

Premier Might Drop Land-for-Road Plan

British Columbia is ready to withdraw its offer to maintain 600 miles of Alaska Highway in return for part of the Northwest Territories lying north of B.C.'s border, Premier Bennett said yesterday.

"In discussion with Mr. Pearkes, I made a very generous offer to the federal government to help them out of their difficulties," he said. "B.C. certainly is not pushing it. If the federal government is not in favor, we will withdraw our offer."

In Victoria last week, Defence Minister Pearkes said Premier Bennett had "made an informal proposal and I suggested that he make a detailed proposal to Ottawa. We must have more details before we can consider it. No terms have been discussed."

The area of the territories involved is rich in power and oil-gas potential and its annexation could make B.C. the largest province in Canada.

'Show Us How to Wash When Water Cuts Out'

"Do you have someone who can advise us how to wash the dishes, bath the children, warm the baby's bottle—with-out water?" Saanich council's public works committee was asked last night.

The question was presented in a letter from Mrs. Joy A. Broughton, 3620 Doncaster Drive, complaining that her water supply cuts out between 6:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. week nights and after 10 a.m. on weekends.

Council's advice was confined to the advisability of installing a storage tank, to be filled during the day before the water cuts out.

"On weekends, how are we to do any washing and cook the meals—without water?" Mrs. Broughton asked. "Or, on these hot days, when my husband comes home from a hard day's work, covered in grease, how can he have a bath or even wash his hands?"

Candlelight and wine, or beer and smoke is all the same to Irene Henderson. She and her husband have their own bar at home, 2091 Phyllis Street. —(Colonist photo.)

Family Left Only Sand On the Beach

By CAREL KENDALL

It's amazing the things you find on beaches if you are looking.

The Hendersons are a family always looking.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Henderson and their young sons, David and Neil, are often seen dragging home strange shaped pieces of timber and rocks . . . "In case they come in handy, someday."

Their friends were curious to know what they intended to do with it all. They were doubtful themselves.

DUMPING GROUND

A small room leading off the living room of their new house on Phyllis Street, was left unfinished and became the happy dumping ground of all beachcombing loot.

Waiting in vain for the creative urge, they set themselves a time-limit by asking friends to a party . . . to christen the new room. Then had to work like slaves to finish it in time.

Chopping, discarding, fitting driftwood together like pieces of jigsaw, something gradually took shape.

The result is a replica of an English pub, with all the coziness and friendliness associated with those words.

ONLY PURCHASES

All that was purchased was the plaster and floor covering.

Bar room fittings and posters and placards were sent from England by an uncle of Mrs. Henderson, himself a pub owner.

Photos on the wall of past shows remind you that Irene Henderson is well-known for her singing in the Gracie Fields style and has been in the Gerry Gossley Smile Show for many years.

WITH OR WITHOUT

It is just the place to sing lustily, with or without a tune.

Since completing this private bar, last year, Keith and Irene Henderson have given some good parties in this mellow and friendly atmosphere.

In 1950 the Henderson family arrived in Victoria with very little money and decided to build their own house.

BORROW BOOK

If you want to know how to build, all you do is borrow a book, look at half-built houses and keep hammering. They did all that and finished it in seven months.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 17 and have been dating a fine boy, 20. Last night I asked him if he ever had an affair. He turned red and tried to change the subject. I nagged him until he finally told me about it.

He was only 16 and the woman was a divorcee. He said he saw her only a few times and his conscience got the best of him. She got married shortly after that and he hasn't seen her since.

I'm so disappointed in him I can hardly stand it. My parents think he's wonderful and I'm afraid to tell them about this for fear they'll lose respect for him. I know I'm too young for marriage now, but we've discussed it. Now I wonder if I'd be happy with a man who has a past. I'm shaken and hurt. What is your opinion?—KIM.

Dear Kim: You had no business pumping your boy friend about his "past" and he was a boob to tell you. For heaven's sake don't fill in your folks on the divorce episode. It's not their business either.

If you refuse to consider a man who has a "past" you narrow the field of prospects considerably. A girl should accept her fiancé at face value, judge him on the merits of his conduct with her, and skip the questionnaire.

Meaningless Words

Dear Ann: My wife died in childbirth eight years ago. Two years later I married an angelic woman who treated my son as if he were her own. We've since had three children together. Our family is very happy—with only one cloud.

I never told the oldest boy this woman is not his real mother. She's been begging me for three years to tell him but I'm afraid it will be a terrible emotional blow. I fear, too, the children may feel differently toward him if they learn he's only a half-blood relative.

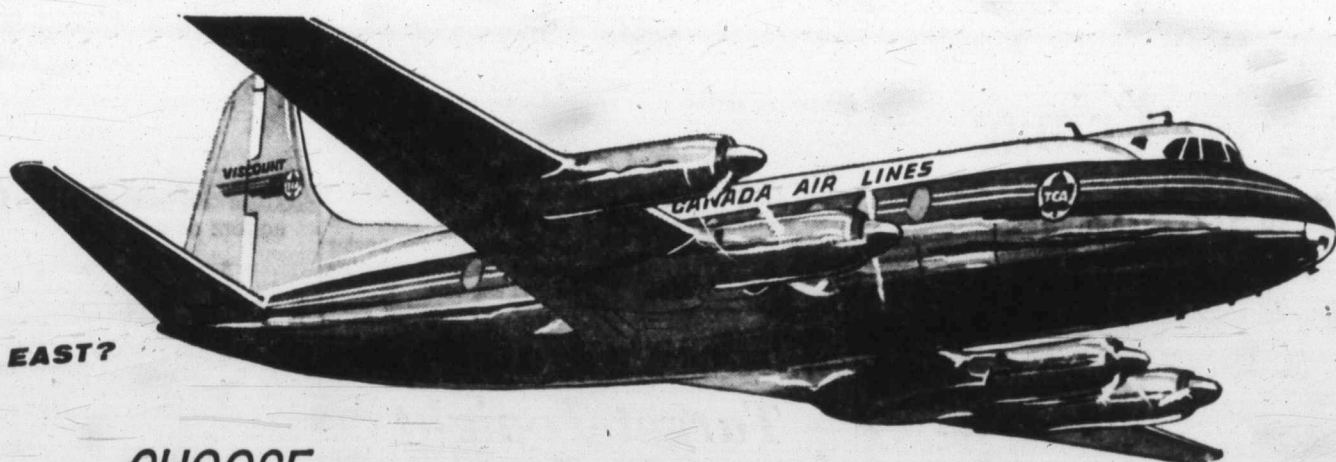

I say what kids don't know can't hurt them. Since the boy doesn't remember his real mother why dredge up the past? My wife asked me to write to you. What's your advice?—SMOKE SCREEN.

Dear Smoke Screen: The adage "What you don't know can't hurt you" is a meaningless collection of words. Ignorance is far more dangerous than truth.

Children should be told they are adopted or step-children as soon as they're old enough to know what the words mean. Better to grow up with the

How Many Khrushchevs Coming?

Family of Mystery

WASHINGTON (NANA) — When Premier Nikita Khrushchev steps down from his plane here in September, he may be followed by one mystery woman and one mystery man. They are his wife, Nadezhda, and his son, Sergei.

80th Anniversary Quiet Son Too Sick for Party

HOBART, Okla. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fullingim quietly observed their 80th wedding anniversary at their home near here Monday.

She is 88, he is 104. They were married in 1878. There was no anniversary celebration because their son, 78, who lives at their home, was feeling ill.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain
And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home, without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions; some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Virtually nothing is known about Khrushchev's family, and reports that the premier may be accompanied on his American visit by his wife and a son have stirred considerable curiosity here.

The curiosity was particularly excited by a report that one of the premier's daughters Yulia might come along, too.

The Russian Embassy reported it had "absolutely no information" on any of them. Eventually, from varied sources, this sketchy picture emerged:

The premier is believed to have two daughters, Rada and Nadezhda (usually abbreviated as Nadia or Nadya), and several sons. Some reports say four sons, others say "several." One is known to have been killed in the Second World War.

Sergei, the son whom reports say will come with his father, is about 24, recently married, and an electronics engineer who works in Moscow. Rada and Nadia both are married, and are believed to be in their late 20's or early 30's.

Lady MPs Debate on Japan's Geishas

Charming, Says Jean, Depressing—Kate

TOKYO (AP)—Two female members of the Canadian Parliament fought a private debate Tuesday on geishas, the Japanese entertainers who make a life study of charming the male.

"A depressing system . . . an incredible life for modern girls, aside from the morals involved," Miss Margaret Aitken, Conservative member for York-Humber, said of the institution which places girl trainees in geisha houses before they are 10 years old.

"I don't find it at all depressing—" think the geishas are quite gay and charming, enjoying life to the fullest," retorted Mrs. Jean Caselman, Conservative member for Grenville-Dundas.

The MPs were interviewed after they and 14 other Canadian tourists visited a traditional Kyoto geisha house, were served by geishas and understudies and heard the facts of geisha life.

Referring to the Japanese definition of a true geisha as an artist in music, dance and conversation, Miss Aitken said, "I certainly don't consider it a high form of art . . . The dance is very highly stylized and very obscure . . . Imagine four hours to prepare their hair, and sleeping at night on boards—'incredible'!"

Miss Aitken suggested most geishas hoped to find rich husbands or "at best, become mistresses." Many modern Japanese women make similar criticisms.

Mrs. Caselman rallied to the defence of the age-old institution, saying: "Lots of people are forced into lots of things they obviously don't take to as well as these girls take to their gay life."

Miss Diana Michener of Toronto, daughter of House Speaker Roland Michener, entered the debate, saying "for a woman who has got to have a job, a geisha job might be higher up the scale than any others open. The thing I don't like is they are chosen at such an early age."

The Canadians leave this week for Hong Kong and a three-week tour of Communist China.

Fate of Petticoat Lane

'Ruddy Supermarket'

LONDON (Reuters)—The pitchmen and pickpockets, traders and touts muttered the sad word Monday in the deafening din of Petticoat Lane.

"They want to turn 'er into a ruddy supermarket," it would be a fate worse than death for the 200-year-old rollicking street whose proud sons boast they can peddle anything from a toothpick to an elephant.

The thought of stationary counters with roofs overhead fills most of the Cockney and Jewish natives of the fabulous open-air market with horror.

Every Sunday morning shoppers and sightseers crush into the once-fashionable street in Whitechapel, London's Jewish quarter.

Braed against the crowds in front of their traditional

Garden Notes

Straw for the Berries

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One of the major problems of the home gardener today is how to maintain the humus content of his soil. Farmyard manure is expensive and difficult to come by and, in any case, our womenfolk don't seem to care much for the idea of a big pile of manure sitting in the middle of the garden.

Compost is wonderful stuff and certainly there is no excuse for wasting the fallen leaves, lawn mowings and other vegetable wastes which accumulate through the season. But the way an enormous pile of leaves will shrink down through the winter is appalling and, when the time comes to spread the stuff, there is never enough to go round.

Straw seems to be one of the best answers to this problem. Baled straw doesn't take up too much storage space in the garden and isn't too expensive if you buy it in lots of five or six bales at a time. Sometimes it is even possible to secure a load of spoiled or musty straw just for the cartage charges. This is just as useful for our purpose as the good stuff.

Straw is especially good where small fruits are grown. It is a funny thing, but while almost every gardener knows about and uses straw around strawberries, few of them ever think to apply the same technique and material to their currants and cane berries. It is best put down in early winter, after the more pressing autumn jobs are completed, and spread to a depth of about nine inches around and among the bushes. Always scatter a sprinkle of fertilizer on the ground first, one cupful to the square yard.

As a result of this straw mulch, there will be no digging to do through the winter and no hoeing in the spring. Weeds are suppressed and the soil remains loose and open, with colonies of beneficial earthworms thriving in the cool, moist conditions, and the earth becomes matted with fibrous feeding roots right up to the surface.

Black currants are especially appreciative of this treatment. In fact, they push ahead so fast that extra severe pruning becomes necessary. The idea works well, too, with raspberries, logans, cultivated blackberries, red and white currants and gooseberries.

With gooseberries, though, the crop comes a bit later when the straw mulch is spread in winter. With this subject, there is some advantage in delaying the mulching until early May.

The effect of this straw treatment has to be seen to be believed. It makes working among your bushes far more comfortable and cleaner. The muddy boots problem in winter is licked. It makes picking and pruning a pleasure and the straw gradually disintegrates, feeding the soil and making it possible to top up the mulch with more straw the following season.

I understand, too, that valuable antibiotic moulds flourish in rotting straw and I have noticed that it has a remarkable revitalizing effect on soil which is "sick" from having carried one particular crop for too many years.

The Viewing World

From Hoax to Hollywood

By John Crosby

Pat Harrington Jr. is a good-looking, fast-talking, somewhat dazed young man who finds himself hurtling toward a career in Hollywood, saying to himself, "Whither?" or, when he lapses into dialect, "Quo Vadis?"

Harrington, of course, is rather better known as Guido Panzini, the fake Italian golf pro of the Jack Paar Show. Also a dialect character of a good many other shows. This is the way to get ahead on television. Do a dialect bit. The Paar Show alone has spawned Genevieve, who is French; Hermine Gimpel, who is sort of spooky English; Dottie Goodman, who is kookie Midwest; and Charlie Weaver who is show biz bucolic.

The accents are beginning to have the same function as baggy pants on a burlesque comedian. They get a quick laugh. They're an identifying trademark. But Panzini, who wants to make it as Harrington, may have trouble getting rid of the character he has created. And how is he going to do this? Well, he'll have a running part in the Danny Thomas Show.

Harrington Sr. was a comedian but there was no thought of Pat Jr. going into show business until recently. He was a contented and fairly prosperous (around $33,000 a year) time salesman for WNEW-TV when this last bolt of lightning struck.

As a performer, Harrington has only done his conversational bits (which are very funny) with Paar and small and extremely well-written man-on-the-street routines with Allen.

I asked him if he planned to continue doing the Steve Allen Show which has moved to the West Coast. "Sure, I plan to do quite a few Allen shows," said Harrington blithely.

"All I got is a plane ticket and a contract. I've never been to the Coast before. My wife and family just moved into our first home Dec. 6 of last year. Now we've sold the house and we're going to Hollywood. It's weird. It's frightening."

Fascinating Rochester

LONDON (NANA)—"Jane Eyre," which Errol Flynn was supposed to do on Broadway, but didn't, and for which actor Eric Portman was paid $50,000 win, lose or draw, will be presented on the West End stage with Jack Hawkins in the role of the fascinating Rochester. The play will be produced by Charles Russell and Lance Hamilton for American millionaire Huntington Hartford.

Dana Wynter—Mrs. Greg Bautzer—told the press in Ireland, where she is co-starring with Robert Mitchum in "A Terrible Beauty," that she will keep on with her career after the baby arrives early next year.

Diana Dors' ex-friend, muscle man Tommy Yardeye has bought the Soho Club where Di's current mate, Dickie Dawson, used to sing for three dollars a night.

Everyone sings in Italy, and some of them compose. You'll soon be hearing a catchy song, "Dance Little Girl," by Gaetano Vicari, the concierge of the Royal Danieli Hotel in Venice.

No wonder Cary Grant is excited about buying "The Grass is Greener," hit play in London. I've seen it and it's delicious. It's about a personable American oil millionaire—to be played by Cary—who pays his two and six to visit a Stately Home of England and wanders by mistake on purpose, into the private rooms of the lady of the manor, falls in love at first sight and ends up fighting a duel with her husband. He wants Deborah Kerr—everybody wants Deborah—to play the lady. And I hope he will sign Joan Greenwood who is absolutely delightful in her role of best friend to the lady, played expertly on stage by Celia Johnson.

Another popular play, "Five Finger Exercise," starring Adrienne Allen, I found confusing. Everyone was in love with everyone and nobody at the same time, if you don't follow me.

Michael Wilding, who hasn't made a film or appeared in a play for too long, is hoping to be assigned to a play presently titled, "Gazelle in Park Lane." Louis Jourdan would have done it in New York but not London. Mike's wife, the wealthy Susan, is selling all her jewels and Rolls Royces and putting the money into real estate, which is more profitable.

Noelle Adam who says she will marry Sidney Chaplin, was lunching at Ye Olde Bell Hotel in Hurlingham on the Thames while I tucked into my roast beef and Yorkshire pudding. I talked with mine host at the popular place where James Thurber stayed two weeks while writing his biography of Harold Ross, and where Errol Flynn usually stays when he comes to London. The inn was built in the 12th century and was originally a hostel to the priory of Ladye Place—Isn't that nice sounding.

When the Gina Lollobrigida-Anthony Quinn "Hunchback of Notre Dame" was shown recently in Dublin at a big theatre, a little man across the street with a little theatre put on the Charles Laughton-Maureen O'Hara version, and everyone went to see it. As much because they know Charles and love Maureen as for the fact it's a better version of the Victor Hugo classic.

Some of the delays on "Suddenly Last Summer" are due to the inability of Elizabeth Taylor to be on time. According to her chauffeur, writing in a local paper here, Liz sometimes gets dressed, then goes back to bed again, feeling too tired for anything strenuous. But sometimes it isn't her fault. Her back is still troubling her.

The bidding:
North: 1♠ East: 2♠ South: 2♠ West: 2♠

Opening lead: ♠ A

We are all in favor of science, but some hands just don't lend themselves to "scientific" bidding. True, North might have attempted to discover if South had first- or second-round heart control, but preferred not to reveal his of eventual success increased by keeping the opponents in the dark.

Even after the favorable lead, however, it required masterful dummy play to land the contract. Declarer ruffed the club ace on the board, led a low spade and ruffed in his hand. Next, he finessed dummy's trump nine, and ruffed another low spade with the diamond queen. Now dummy's trump Jack was finessed. East failing. The ace and king of spades were cashed, followed by a low spade—on which South made the key play. He discarded a heart!

West won the spade queen, but there was no way for the defense to gather another trick. Declarer could win either a heart or a club return in his hand; enter dummy while drawing West's last trump; cash two long spades, and make altogether four spade tricks, two spade ruffs, four diamonds, the heart ace and the club king.

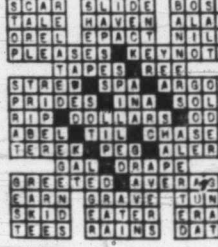

If South had ruffed the fifth spade, he could not have made his contract.

Future Vaccine In Pills

Wagonmaster

In Kalamazoo, Mich., Harold Wright, 33, is a hero since he put a two-horsepower garden tractor to use pulling the wagons of the kids in his neighborhood.

OTTAWA (CP) — Possible future use in Canada of a live polio virus vaccine is being studied by the federal health department and the Connaught Medical Research Laboratories in Toronto.

Health Minister Monteith said Tuesday that the new vaccine—taken in the form of a single pill instead of three injections—still is in the test stage in this country.

Until there was positive proof that it would work, there would be no letup in the cross-country campaign to persuade all Canadians, especially those ranging in age 20 to 40, to be inoculated with proven Salk vaccine.

Tests in the U.S. indicate that one pill of the new vaccine will give protection against all three types of polio virus. The Salk treatment includes three spaced injections.

Judge Says Worker 'Entitled to Binge'

WHITE HOUSE STATION, N.J. (AP) — Magistrate Howard Drinkwater says that under some conditions a man is entitled to get drunk—even if he wanders out on the highway and starts singing to cars.

Drinkwater called it "the solace of an occasional alcoholic binge" and dismissed drunk and disorderly charges against Leo Jackson, 37, a migrant worker.

Jackson told the magistrate he had been hired as a farm laborer at $100 a month and a place to sleep, but couldn't take it any more and quit. His employer deducted $10 for employment office expenses and sent Jackson on his way with $2.25.

Ruled Drinkwater: "Any person in this day and age working for 13 hours a day in a 31-day month for $100 deserves, if anyone does, the solace of an occasional alcoholic binge. I would rather have your employer here than you."

"Charges dismissed."

Bennett Sees 'Great Development'

All Departments On 10-Year Plan

All government departments are busy planning 10-year programs of great development for British Columbia in the 1960s, Premier Bennett said yesterday.

"The 1960s will be British Columbia's greatest decade," he said. "With a debt-free province, people who think they have seen great developments to date will see even greater developments."

Meanwhile Social Crediters have already started planning for an election, which would tie in with the premier's big development plans.

B.C. Social Credit League president Noel Murphy said the annual Social Credit convention will be held in Vancouver Oct. 30 and 31.

"This could be an election-planning convention," he said. "We know the premier has said the election will be in 1960 or 1961, but usually a government serves four sessions and then goes to the people."

Opposition Jubilant

Bennett, BCE Silent On Briggs' New Job

The man who was fired as general manager of the B.C. Power Commission last November because he publicly denounced Premier Bennett's financial policies for the commission was yesterday appointed to the new National Outspoken H. Lee Briggs was one of five men named to the board by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The two biggest targets of

Mr. Briggs' outspoken attack on government power policy, Premier Bennett and B.C. Electric president Dal Grauer—had no comment yesterday on the appointment.

"On federal appointments, I never have any comment," Premier Bennett said quietly. A spokesman for the B.C. said there would be no comment from Mr. Grauer "because we never comment on the appointment of public bodies or officials."

But the appointment was greeted with jubilation in other circles.

Happiest place in Victoria was the offices of the B.C. Power Commission when the employees heard about the appointment. Mr. Briggs was admired by his former employees and contrary to advice of high B.C.P.C. officials continued to support Mr. Briggs even after he was fired.

"I am very happy that Mr. Briggs has received this appointment," Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said. "This vindicates Mr. Briggs."

The appointment completely vindicates Mr. Briggs, echoed Liberal Leader Ray Perrault.

Deane Finlayson, Progressive Conservative leader, said the appointment will mean careful scrutiny of any plans to export power generated on the Peace River.

In his new appointment Mr. Briggs will undoubtedly deal with Lands and Forests Minister Williston, Premier Bennett and Mr. Grauer in matters concerning export of power, development of the Columbia and Peace River Water-Gren development if, as indicated, it is planned to export some of the power developed in the north.

Mr. Briggs is now in Seattle and as yet has very little information about his new job. He will fly to Ottawa Friday and return to Victoria Saturday.

He expects he will finish a job he has undertaken as consulting engineer for a Connecticut project before taking up his new duties.

When Mr. Briggs made his sensational charges that the Bennett government was "prostituting B.C.P.C. customers for political purposes" he was hailed by many as a one-man crusader and a hero and by others his mental condition was questioned.

Prairie Gap Worries U.S.

OTTAWA (CP) — Genial Neil McElroy, United States defence secretary, sought Canadian co-operation Tuesday in construction of more heavy radars in Canada to fill the prairie gap.

The Pinetree radar network, which controls the operations of jet interceptors and anti-aircraft missiles, extends from the East Coast to the region of Winnipeg and from the West Coast to Dawson Creek, B.C.

It is this radarless prairie gap which defence planners want to plug. Plans already exist for seven new heavy radars—two in Central Canada and five on the Prairies—but Mr. McElroy said at a press conference soon after his arrival here for a one-day visit that still more radars are needed.

PEAKES AGREES

Reaction of Defence Minister Peakes was favorable. He told reporters after his meeting with Mr. McElroy: "We decided it would be desirable to increase the facilities of the warning system by introduction of new and more powerful radars and the addition of more gap-filler radars than originally contemplated."

This was subject, however, to cabinet approval. No estimate of costs or construction dates were given.

JOINT FINANCING

The Pinetree chain and the new radars are financed jointly by Canada and the U.S., with this country paying one-third of the cost.

Mr. McElroy made it clear that the U.S. is not urging Canada to accept more Bomarc anti-aircraft missile bases in Canada beyond the two already planned for North Bay, Ont., and Mont Laurier, Que.

Nkrumah at Castle

Ex-Outcast Now Guest Of the Queen

BALMORAL, Scotland (AP) — Premier Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana called on the Queen Tuesday night to offer congratulations on the expected royal baby and to talk about turning his African state into a republic. (See page 10.)

The Queen invited him to Balmoral Castle to express her personal regrets that, with her third child on the way, she was forced to cancel a visit to Ghana.

The 49-year-old African statesman flew in beaming with delight.

When he came to Britain as a student 14 years ago he had trouble finding lodgings. A few years later British authorities in Africa jailed him as an agitator.

Tuesday night Nkrumah was an honored guest at the royal castle.

He admitted that he will be discussing with the Queen the possibility of making Ghana a republic. This would mean not recognizing the Queen as head of state, but would leave Ghana a member of the Commonwealth.

Man, 30, Charged In Police Shooting

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Elino Pajuluoma, 30, was charged with attempted murder Tuesday following the wounding of provincial police Constable Marcel Gascon, 30.

Const. Gascon, formerly of Edmonton, was in serious condition in hospital with neck wounds from 410 shotgun pellets suffered when he was shot in a rooming house where he went to interview a man about an Aug. 6 traffic accident.

City police said Const. Gas-

con was shot on the stairway of the house at which Pajuluoma roomed.

The constable staggered downstairs and pounded on the door of another room. When he received no answer he went out to the street where witnesses said he collapsed in a pool of blood.

John Strachuk, a neighbor, called police and three officers entered the house and recovered the gun. They said Pajuluoma offered no resistance.

Red Bike Battalions Supply Laos Battle

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Communist battalions are using bicycles to move arms and supplies into Sam Neua province from the direction of North Viet Nam, a Laotian official said Tuesday.

Sisouk Na Champassak, secretary of state for information, said the bike battalions are using jungle paths and generally imitating tactics used by the Communist Vietnamese during the Indochinese war against the French.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. state department yesterday accused the Communists of deliberately starting the fighting in Laos "to keep tensions alive in Southeast Asia."

Automatic Tooth Brush Ready for Weary World

TRIESTE, Italy (UPI) — Businessman Angelo Ritossa claimed to have solved the problems of those who each morning feel it a tiring effort to wash their teeth.

Ritossa said he had invented the automatic tooth brush. The instrument is operated by a small turbine activated by water pressure. The bristles rotate and all the user has to do is hold the brush—it does the rest.

"You don't even have to squeeze paste on to the brush. It is equipped with a container that rations it out automatically."

Taxes Down Pensions Up In Australia

CANBERRA (Reuters) — The Australian government cut income taxes by 5 per cent and increased old age and all other social security pensions Tuesday.

Iron Union, Companies Solve Strike

Labor Picture Brightens But More Trouble Ahead

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's critical labor situation eased further late last night with the announcement that negotiations in the six-week strike of ironworkers, which has been tying up $90,000,000 in construction, have reached a proposal satisfactory to both sides.

Ratification still will be required by the 500 members of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers union, and the 15 companies involved.

GOOD NEWS

Following as it did on the settlement of the fishing strike, which had tied up British Columbia's No. 2 industry, the agreement between union negotiators and the 15 companies involved was good news.

But, the continued lack of negotiation between the IWA and the coast forest industries took the edge off the announcement.

ELECTRICIAN STRIKE?

And a strike of electrical workers was feared as 1,200 members of the inside wiremen's section of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers began voting today to decide whether they will go on strike to support demands of a shorter working week.

The electricians want a 35-hour week with no reduction in take-home pay. They have rejected a conciliation board award of 10-cents-an-hour over two years. Present pay is $3.10 an hour.

REFERRED FOR VOTE

The statement on the ironworkers' agreement was issued by Norman Edlison, business agent of the local, and T. H. Shields, president of the company association. The proposal will be referred to the companies this morning and the men will vote tonight.

UNDERWAY IN WEEK

Confidence that the proposal would become final was indicated by the announcement from Mr. Shields that the biggest project, the $36,000,000 B.C. Electric hydro-electric plant at Bridge River, would be underway this week.

William Fraser, chief conciliation officer of the provincial labor department, brought the two sides together.

CONTENT FINES

Union acts brought Supreme Court action when three union officials and the union were fined a total of $19,000 for contempt of court.

Terms of the settlement were not announced.

However, earlier in the day, union members voted to refuse an offer totalling 57 cents an hour in a 27-month contract.

RETROACTIVE

These included 32 cents an hour retroactive to the first of the year; an additional six cents when work resumed, an additional seven cents in welfare benefits starting Jan. 1, 1960; and an additional 12 cents April 1, 1960, with the contract to run until March 31, 1961.

Polio Hits 27 More In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Twenty-seven more polio victims were registered at Montreal hospitals Tuesday, raising this year's total to 184. Twelve have died.

At this time last year only five cases were reported.

Of the 184 polio victims, officials said, only seven had been vaccinated, and they are suffering only mild attacks.

Acid Spray Fells 60, Scores Flee

NEW YORK (UPI) — Deadly nitric acid spurted from a hose leak at a Brooklyn plant engaged in secret air force production yesterday, injuring more than 60 persons and forcing hundreds to flee their homes. Some were burned, others were overcome by fumes.

Bear Loose Near Homes

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (UPI) — Ontario provincial police Tuesday advised parents in two large housing subdivisions to keep their children at home because they feared a wounded bear might be loose in the area.

The bear had been annoying people in the area for three days and was shot by a resident Tuesday.

Teenager Took Drugs at Home Mother, Brothers Tell Court

VANCOUVER (CP) — An 18-year-old girl wept in Vancouver police court Tuesday as her mother and two younger brothers testified against her on a drug possession charge.

The girl, Margaret Gropp, was remanded to Thursday along with Jerry Kelnys, 22, who is charged jointly with the two to come out. When they refused, she said, she called police.

Police Det. Gordon Cox testified the girl showed "all the symptoms of being under the influence of drugs." He said he also found an eye dropper, a needle and some white powder in the bathroom.

Nine Flee Fire

DUNCAN—A family of nine narrowly escaped with their lives yesterday when fire ripped through their five-room home, one of the oldest buildings in the district.

The mother, Mrs. Ralph Schifferns, was awakened by Cheryl, four months, youngest of her seven children, to find "the back of the house just burning up."

LITTLE SAVED

"We got the children and went out the front door," she said. "It burned so fast all we could get out was the portable sewing machine by the door."

Her husband, a B.C. Cement Co. employee, said it is not known how the fire started in the home on Tzouhalem Road, four miles east of here.

COULDN'T HELP

North Cowichan municipal crews were called about 3:30 a.m. but could do nothing because "the whole place was on fire when we got there."

The home, valued at about $7,000, was about 75 years old and had been built as a combined store and post office. The Schifferns had lived in it for eight years.

The family was given food and clothing by the Duncan branch, Canadian Red Cross.

$1,600 Loot Dumped In River

NANAIMO—Douglas Norman Lewis of Nanaimo was sentenced yesterday to 3½ years in penitentiary after admitting 20 breaking and entering charges.

The offences occurred between October, 1958, and this month. All concerned business premises in and around the city.

Magistrate Lionel Bévort-Potts recommended that the 25-year-old man receive some psychiatric treatment after hearing that Lewis had dumped about $1,600 worth of merchandise in Nanaimo River.

Most daring offence committed by Lewis was the theft of a 1959 model car from the showroom window of Hub City Sales on Nicol Street.

Also sentenced by the Nanaimo magistrate was Andrew Thomas, 39. He pleaded guilty to two charges of false pretences.

Vandals Damage Dam

CHEMAMOUS—Municipal officials and police are investigating a case of vandalism at Miller Lake, three miles west of here, on filters at the dam that supplies the city's water.

During the weekend seven screens were taken from the outlets and four were damaged when they were thrown into the small lake. Skindivers brought them out Monday.

Power Plant Openings Set On Same Day

Premier Bennett and new B.C. Power Commission chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside will officiate at opening of two major power plants on Vancouver Island on Sept. 2.

'No Paid Firemen Could Do Better'

PORT ALBERNI—The city's volunteer firemen received praise from Mayor Loran Jordan at a council meeting Monday for their efforts in the costly Connelly Block fire last Saturday.

A delayed alarm, as tenants attempted to quell the blaze themselves, had allowed the fire to get out of hand.

"No paid fire brigade could have done a better job under the circumstances," the mayor said.

The structure, built over 20 years ago, had contained

Heinekey Unopposed In Salt Spring Vote

GANGES—At the regular meeting of trustees of School District No. 64 (Salt Spring), George M. Heinekey, who had been acting chairman since the resignation of A. D. Dane, was elected chairman by acclamation.

To implement a recommendation passed at a special ratepayers' meeting in Ganges in July, the board passed a resolution combining the North Salt Spring and the Ganges attendance areas into one area, represented by four trustees.

A suggestion was discussed regarding consolidation of the whole of Salt Spring Island into a single attendance area with five trustees elected by a general vote; but it was felt that this question should first be submitted to the electors

On motion of Ald. J. R. Dalton, a letter of thanks will go to Alberni fire department which sent a truck and crew without being asked. It was agreed that B.C. Power Commission, B.C. Telephone Co., RCMP, and many private citizens deserved credit for assistance given at the time of the fire.

Ald. Dalton said Port Alberni's fire brigade had hoses trained on the fire within minutes of the alarm.

Mayor Declares War On Garbage Dumpers

NANAIMO—Mayor Pete Maffeo has declared war on illegal garbage dumpers after viewing (and smelling) the remains of 11 dogs which were deposited just off Seventh Street.

He has called a meeting at city hall for Friday at 7:30 p.m. to discuss the problem.

RCMP, Chamber of Commerce, city aldermen, Harwood trustees and Recreation Minister Westwood have been asked to attend.

The mayor was out Tuesday viewing the tons of old paper, rotting perishable items and old car bodies at the roadsides along Seventh Street, Cedar and East Wellington.

Police have already secured one conviction against a "dumper" and two more charges are pending.

Duncan Men Talk Of Radio Station

DUNCAN—A group of city businessmen are discussing establishing a permanent radio station in Duncan, Mayor Jack Dobson said last night.

"Nanaimo and Victoria are now competing for Duncan business," he said. "Some of the businessmen here have decided they don't want to be caught in the middle."

Mayor Dobson said he had been told the Board of Broadcasting Governors had delayed discussions on an application for a licence for the area, pending a submission for a local station.

"I think the council will go along with them," he said. CKDA in Victoria has applied for a "satellite" station, but Nanaimo's CHUB is opposed, claiming prior rights.

'Big' Little Leaguers Come Home to Cheers

DUNCAN — A cheering crowd of more than 400 welcomed the "big" Little League All-Stars home last night when the western champs arrived in a 48-car cavalcade and were told they are "the best."

"You have given the best performance in Little League baseball I've seen in 30 years," said Wilf Cain of Victoria, vice-president of the Little League Association of B.C.

"You played professional ball, . . . and your manager just outsmarted all the other teams and their managers," he said.

The 14 12-year-old players, dressed in their uniforms for the ceremony on a flat-deck truck in Pioneer Park, were also told, "This is one of the most wonderful things that has ever happened to our league," by Lyle Reid, one of the founders of the league here.

"They've been an outstanding success wherever they've gone and been perfect gentlemen. In spite of their size, they have made history," said Mayor Jack Dobson.

On their way home from Penticton, where they won the Western Canada title from Edmonton, they were met at Nanaimo by Mayor Pete Maffeo and received congratulations from Saanich Reeve George Chatterton.

"We're pretty choked up at the reception here and everywhere we've been," said team manager Jarvis Jickling.

The team leaves Saturday for Portland for the Northwest U.S. final. If they win it, they will play games at Sacramento Aug. 14 and 15.

"If they play ball the way they have, like professionals, they'll be in the Little League World Series Aug. 21 and 22 at Williamsburg, Pennsylvania," said league president Orville Paisley.

Nikita in City? 'Great Idea'

Mayor Tom Alsbury wants Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to visit Vancouver, and if the Russian does, Mayor Percy Scurrell wants him to visit Victoria, too.

"If he comes to Vancouver, I'd be glad to have him visit Victoria," Mayor Scurrell said yesterday. "The more he sees of North America, the better it will be."

Mayor Alsbury said he would wire Prime Minister Diefenbaker asking that Vancouver be included "if Mr.

Khrushchev was going to make a tour. The more the Soviet premier's trip was extended, the more valuable it would be "for him and for us," he said.

"I'm a great believer in visiting other countries, meeting people and getting to know their problems," Mayor Scurrell agreed.

"It's always a good idea to see the people of other places and get acquainted. It's better than diplomacy."

"It's the best thing Premier Khrushchev could do," he added. "My training in Rotary has taught me that."

Explain Strike Fund Boasts, Premier Urges IWA Leaders

DARLENE MILLS

'Mothers Begging For Help'

Premier Bennett yesterday called upon the IWA leadership to "make some statement of how they are using" the reported $2,000,000 strike fund.

"I only hope the union leaders are using the strike fund to help the women and children," he said.

MANY LETTERS

The premier said he has received many letters from IWA wives and mothers saying "they need help and can't get it unless they beg for it although leaders boast of a $2,000,000 strike fund."

Meanwhile, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks, in an optimistic frame of mind, said he feels "there will be a major development" in B.C.'s strike situation within 48 hours.

CLEAR REFERENCE

But he made it clear he was not referring specifically to the strike of 27,000 coastal woodworkers.

"I myself feel that the general public will not for long be prepared to let both sides sulk in a corner," he said.

The premier said Labor Minister Wicks has been "devoting a lot of his time to the strike situation."

Joe Morris, IWA president, said families of union members should not be suffering deprivation as a result of the walkout.

"We administer the strike fund according to rules and there should be no one starving or begging," Mr. Morris said.

WRITE TO LOCAL

He said that any one who needs help should write to their local union instead of Premier Bennett.

"We would never deny any union member's family assistance if they could prove they need it. The fund is there for that purpose," Mr. Morris said.

Three Girls Seek Red Feather Title

Three girls have been nominated to take part in the "Miss Red Feather" contest which will be judged Sept. 25, the night the 1959 Greater Victoria Community Chest appeal opens.

Entrants range from four years to 17.

Youngest of the Miss Red Feather contestants is Janice Albany, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Albany, 1215 Craigflower Road. She has been picked to represent the Family and Children's Service.

Sharon Holdridge, 2832 Wyndale, 17 years, has been sponsored by the YWCA. A graduate of the Y-Teens Club, Sharon is at present a counsellor at the Family and Children's Service Sunshine Camp.

Sixteen-year-old Darlene Mills, North Park Street, an active member of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, has been picked to represent the group.

All 22 agencies which make up the 1959 Chest organization have been invited to nominate someone for the contest. There are no age limits.

A fourth agency, the John Howard Society, has announced it will enter the contest, but nobody has yet been picked.

Winner will be a symbol and inspiration for the Community Chest Appeal.

Meteorites Clouded Out Show Returns Tonight

Heavy cloud cover over Victoria until late last night obscured a "one-minute" display of meteorites in the northwest sky.

Usually the display lasts from Aug. 11 to Aug. 13, he said.

Tug on Fringe Of Typhoon

Victoria tug Sudbury II, with a pair of 10,000-ton Liberty ships in tow, was hoisted yesterday in mountainous seas off the north coast of Japan.

Her Victoria skipper, Captain Harley Blagborne, and crew were riding out a violent storm on the fringe of "Typhoon Ellen" with gale force winds of 45 miles per hour.

Officials of Island Tug & Barge Company, owners of the tug, said yesterday latest reports showed the typhoon centre moving away from Sudbury II, but the storm was described as becoming more active.

They believe the tug and its huge tow will get underway again sometime today.

The Sudbury is about eight days out of the Japanese port where the two Second World War freighters will be broken up for scrap.

Meanwhile, another Island Tug & Barge vessel, the tug Cambrian Salvor with the 32,000-ton Chilean battleship Almirante Latorre in tow, has covered about one-third of the 4,500-mile leg from Honolulu to Japan and is in the clear after dodging "Hurricane Dot" for two days last week.

Widow's Mortgage Target Tonight

Door-to-door canvas of Langford and nearby territory will be made this evening to help the widow of a volunteer fireman pay off the $4,600 mortgage on her home.

Edward Fisher, 47, collapsed late last month while helping fight a bush fire and died later in hospital. He left his widow and three small children.

The fund was launched by Langford and District Lions Club and the volunteer fire department.

Yesterday, donations totalled almost $700.

Canvassers are still needed to help in tonight's door-to-door drive and donations may be sent to 706 Goldstream or will be picked up if donors telephone GR 8-3515.

Hundreds More on Job Over Year-Ago Total

Employment in the Victoria area shows an improvement in the hundreds over one year ago, according to Unemployment Insurance Commission figures released yesterday.

men registered compared to 2,807 one year ago. Women seeking jobs total 1,011 compared to 1,078 last year.

But a warning that labor strife is cutting down construction jobs was issued by Horace Keefe, regional director of the UIC in Vancouver.

Why Not Settle Now? IWA, Firms Asked

PORT ALBERNI — "Eventually, so why not now" was the theme of Mayor Loran Jordan's advice to operators and union in the woodworkers' strike at council meeting Monday.

The mayor expressed concern with the situation in which this city "has been very hard hit."

"We all agree that the strike will be settled," he said. "I personally would like to see management and labor sit down together now. If they started talking they would eventually get around to doing something besides cussing each other."

He deplored the fact that an apparent desire to save face was preventing the two parties from reopening negotiations.

PARKSVILLE — Work commenced this week on preliminaries for construction of Parksville's new fire hall, scheduled to be completed in November.

The new building will be 50 by 50 feet and will have accommodation for two fire trucks. It will also contain a recreation room, workshop, and office for the fire chief and washroom facilities.

An appropriation of $20,000 was made for the project by the village council and contract was let to M. & M. Builders of Parksville. Site is adjacent to the Parkview service station.

ALBERNI — High cost of dredging may cancel plans for a small boat basin in the mouth of Kitsukis Creek.

The Port Alberni Harbor Commission has advised that information on cost of dredging makes the original proposal uneconomical.

ALBERNI — Possibility of a sewerage system bylaw being put to the voters of Alberni was suggested at Monday's council meeting when discussion took place on reports of unsanitary conditions.

Complaints were heard of conditions on Latham Road between Elizabeth and Gertrude Streets as well as higher up on Latham.

When Ald. George McRae suggested the sanitary inspector be asked to visit the properties involved, City Clerk James Sawyer suggested the inspector might be reluctant to recommend a heavy expenditure when there is some possibility of the sewerage bylaw being placed this winter.

Construction of a lane and ditch tiling may be involved in rectifying the condition in the first complaint.

PORT ALBERNI — Port Alberni Plaza, latest shopping centre development of the Vancouver firm of Capital Holdings Ltd., will be officially opened Aug. 20 by Trade Minister Robert Bonner.

Electricians Vote Today

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia's critical labor situation eased further late last night with the announcement that negotiations in the six-week strike of ironworkers, which has been tying up $90,000,000 in construction, have reached a proposal satisfactory to both sides.

Ratification still will be required by the 500 members of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers union, and the 15 companies involved.

GOOD NEWS

Following as it did on the settlement of the fishing strike, which had tied up British Columbia's No. 2 industry, the agreement between union negotiators and the 15 companies involved was good news.

But the continued lack of negotiation between the IWA and the coast forest industries took the edge off the announcement.

ELECTRICIAN STRIKE?

And a strike of electrical workers was feared as 1,200 members of the inside wiremen's section of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers began voting today to decide whether they will go on strike to support demands of a shorter working week.

The electricians want a 35-hour week with no reduction in take-home pay. They have rejected a conciliation board award of 10-cents-an-hour over two years. Present pay is $3.10 an hour.

REFERRED FOR VOTE

The statement on the ironworkers' agreement was issued by Norman Edlison, business agent of the local, and T. H. Shields, president of the company association.

The proposal will be referred to the companies this morning and the men will vote tonight.

UNDERWAY IN WEEK

Confidence that the proposal would become final was indicated by the announcement from Mr. Shields that the biggest project, the $36,000,000 B.C. Electric hydro-electric plant at Bridge River, would be underway this week.

William Fraser, chief conciliation officer of the provincial labor department, brought the two sides together.

CONTEMPT FINES

Union acts brought Supreme Court action when three union officials and the union were fined a total of $19,000 for contempt of court.

Terms of the settlement were not announced.

However, earlier in the day, union members voted to refuse an offer totalling 57 cents an hour in a 27-month contract.

RETROACTIVE

These included 32 cents an hour retroactive to the first of the year; an additional six cents when work resumed; an additional seven cents in welfare benefits starting Jan. 1, 1960; and an additional 12 cents April 1, 1960, with the contract to run until March 31, 1961.

Polio Hits 27 More In Montreal

MONTREAL (CP)—Twenty-seven more polio victims were registered at Montreal hospitals Tuesday, raising this year's total to 184. Twelve have died.

At this time last year only five cases were reported.

Of the 184 polio victims, officials said, only seven had been vaccinated—and they are suffering only mild attacks.

Acid Spray Fells 60, Scores Flee

NEW YORK (UPI)—Deadly nitric acid spurted from a hose leak at a Brooklyn plant engaged in secret air force production yesterday, injuring more than 60 persons and forcing hundreds to flee their homes. Some were burned, others were overcome by fumes.

Bear Loose Near Homes

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (UPI) — Ontario provincial police Tuesday advised parents in two large housing subdivisions to keep their children at home because they feared a wounded bear might be loose in the area.

The bear had been annoying people in the area for three days and was shot by a resident Tuesday.

Teenager Took Drugs at Home Mother, Brothers Tell Court

VANCOUVER (CP)—An 18-year-old girl wept in Vancouver police court Tuesday as her mother and two younger brothers testified against her on a drug possession charge.

The girl, Margaret Gropp, was remanded to Thursday along with Jerry Klein, 22, who is charged jointly with her. The girl's brothers, aged 12 and 15, told the court they peeked through the keyhole of the bathroom door in their home and saw the two "taking dope."

Mrs. Gropp said she went to the bathroom door and told the two to come out. When they refused, she said, she called police. Police Det. Gordon Cox testified the girl showed "all the symptoms of being under the influence of drugs." He said he also found an eye dropper, a needle and some white powder in the bathroom.

Opposition Jubilant

Bennett, BCE Silent On Briggs' New Job

The man who was fired as general manager of the B.C. Power Commission last November because he publicly denounced Premier Bennett's financial policies for the commission was yesterday appointed to the new National Energy Board in Ottawa.

Outspoken H. Lee Briggs was one of five men named to the board by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The two biggest targets of Mr. Briggs' outspoken attack on government power policy—Premier Bennett and B.C. Electric president Dal Grauer—had no comment yesterday on the appointment.

"On federal appointments, I never have any comment," Premier Bennett said quietly.

A spokesman for the BCE said there would be no comment from Mr. Grauer "because we never comment on the appointment of public boards or officials."

But the appointment was greeted with jubilation in other circles.

Happiest place in Victoria was the offices of the B.C. Power Commission when the employees heard about the appointment. Mr. Briggs was admitted by his former employees who contrary to advice of high B.C.P.C. officials continued to support Mr. Briggs even after he was fired.

"I am very happy that Mr. Briggs has received this appointment," Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said. "This vindicates Mr. Briggs."

"The appointment completely vindicates Mr. Briggs," echoed Liberal Leader Ray Perrault.

Deane Finlayson, Progressive Conservative leader, said the appointment will mean careful scrutiny of any plans to export power generated on the Peace River.

In his new appointment Mr. Briggs will undoubtedly deal with Lands and Forests Minister Williston, Premier Bennett and Mr. Grauer in matters concerning export of power, development of the Columbia and Peace River Western-Gren development if, as indicated, it is planned to export some of the power developed in the north.

When Mr. Briggs made his sensational charges that the Bennett government was "prostituting B.C.P.C. customers for political purposes" he was hailed by many as a one-man crusader and a hero and by others his mental condition was questioned.

His charges led to the Shrum royal commission into B.C. Power Commission financing which held lengthy hearings throughout British Columbia.

Premier Bennett said yesterday he is still waiting for the final report of the Shrum Royal Commission.

Weak Radar Link

Prairie Gap Worries U.S.

OTTAWA (CP) — Genial Neil McElroy, United States defence secretary, sought Canadian co-operation Tuesday in construction of more heavy radars in Canada to fill the prairie gap.

The Pinetree radar network, which controls the operations of jet interceptors and anti-aircraft missiles, extends from the East Coast to the region of Winnipeg and from the West Coast to Dawson Creek, B.C.

It is this radarless prairie gap which defence planners want to plug. Plans already exist for seven new heavy radars—two in Central Canada

PEAKES AGREES

Reaction of Defence Minister Peakes was favorable. He told reporters after his meeting with Mr. McElroy: "We decided it would be desirable to increase the facilities of the warning system by introduction of new and more powerful radars and the addition of more gap-filler radars than originally contemplated."

This was subject, however, to cabinet approval. No estimate of costs or construction dates were given.

JOINT FINANCING

The Pinetree chain and the new radars are financed jointly by Canada and the U.S., with this country paying one-third of the cost.

Mr. McElroy made it clear that the U.S. is not urging Canada to accept more Bomarc anti-aircraft missile bases in Canada beyond the two already planned for North Bay, Ont. and Mont Laurier, Que.

Man, 50, Charged In Police Shooting

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Eino Pajuluoma, 50, was charged with attempted murder Tuesday following the wounding of provincial police Const. Marcel Gascon, 30.

Const. Gascon, formerly of Edmonton, was in serious condition in hospital with neck wounds from 410 shotgun pellets suffered when he was shot in a rooming house where he went to interview a man about an Aug. 6 traffic accident.

City police said Const. Gas-

con was shot on the stairway of the house at which Pajuluoma roomed.

The constable staggered downstairs and pounded on the door of another room. When he received no answer he went out to the street where witnesses said he collapsed in a pool of blood.

John Strachuk, a neighbor, called police and three officers entered the house and recovered the gun. They said Pajuluoma offered no resistance.

Red Bike Battalions Supply Laos Battle

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Communist battalions are using bicycles to move arms and supplies into Sam Neua province from the direction of North Viet Nam, a Laotian official said Tuesday.

Sisouk Na Champassak, secretary of state for information, said the bike battalions are using jungle paths and generally imitating tactics used by the Communist Vietminh during the Indochinese war against the French.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. state department yesterday accused the Communists of deliberately starting the fighting in Laos "to keep tensions alive in Southeast Asia."
